1	Afghanistan 2011	(1) para. 25: grave concern about gender-based discrimination of girls.	(1) para. 27: concerned that the principle of the best interests of the child is not adequately applied by legislative bodies and is therefore absent from most of the legislation concerning children, as well as from the judicial and administrative decisions and policies, and programmes relevant to children.	(1) para 31: concerned that traditional societal attitudes towards children limit, and often totally prevent, children from expressing their views; the right of children to be heard in any judicial or administrative proceedings affecting them is rarely respected.	(1) para. 7: Concerned that child rights continue to be negatively affected by the application of different sources of law, namely codified, customary and sharia laws, and that legislation contradictory to the CRC remains in force.	(1) para. 15: information about budget allocation for implementing the rights of children is extremely limited, and there is no effective mechanism for tracking and monitoring the allocation and impact of resources from national and international sources.	(1) para. 19: concern about the absence of a comprehensive data collection system, which allows disaggregation and further analysis of data on the living conditions of children, particularly girls, children in poverty, or children with disabilities; para. 59: budgetary allocations to the education sector remain insufficient.	NA

3	Algeria 2012	(2) para. 8: urge to address COs of the initial report that have not been sufficiently implemented, particularly those related to non-discrimination; par. 29: notes with satisfaction the measures taken to increase girls' school enrolment; but also persistence of legal provisions that discriminate against girls and women such as in the 2005 Family Code. Concerned that limited measures have been taken to change societal discriminatory and patriarchal attitudes and behaviours as well as stereotyping of gender roles; and concerned about persistent de-facto discrimination of specified groups.	(2) para. 31: notes with satisfaction that the principle of the best interests of the child was included in the Family Code in 2005; concerned that the general principle of the best interests of the child has not been incorporated in all legislation concerning children and is therefore not applied in all administrative and judicial proceedings, nor in policies and programmes relating to children.	(1) para. 35: ad hoc initiatives to develop youth participation, but limited sustainable actions were undertaken to change societal attitudes; limiting effect of obligation to get guardian's authorization; right not to be heard remains largely ineffective.	(2) para. 11: notes as positive legal reforms and harmonization with CRC, in particular as regards nationality and civil registration. The Committee is however concerned about: lack of progress in the adoption of the Child Protection Code and gender discrimination in Family Code.	(1) para. 15: concerned about the lack of specific budgetary allocations for the National Plan of Action for Children (2008-2015); para. 19: concern that while the State party has a flourishing economy, the budgetary allocations for social sectors and especially for the health sector remain extremely limited; corruption remains pervasive continues to divert resources that could enhance the implementation of the rights of the child; concerned about the high level of military expenditure in contrast to allocations to the health sector; para. 57: budgetary allocations to the health sector remain greatly insufficient.	(1) para.21: notes with concern the limited progress made to establish a national, comprehensive and centralized data collection system; particularly concerned that data by geographic location, socio-economic status and groups of vulnerable children as well as data on violence, abuse and exploitation is completely lacking and that policy makers often use unreliable national data; para. 73: since 2008 no data collected on children in the streets.	(1) para. 8: urge to address COs of the initial report that have not been sufficiently implemented, particularly those related to cooperation with civil society; para. 27: concern that members of non-governmental human rights organizations, including those monitoring the situation of child rights as well as journalists are often subjected to intimidation, harassment and arrests; and about legal limitations on receiving international funds; para. 77: civil society is prohibited from operating shelters for victims of trafficking because they would be penalized for harbouring undocumented migrants.

4	Andorra 2012 [Not yet included in KidsRights Index]	(2) para. 24: welcomes the establishment of the National Equality Commission in 2010 to address anti-discrimination issues and the initiative to develop a National Action Plan for Equality; concern about non-prioritization of the work of the Commission since its establishment though and that little progress has been made; concerned about the existing patriarchal attitudes, practices and stereotypes that discriminate against girls and children with disabilities.	(2) para. 26: noting that different governmental bodies, such as the Technical Commission for Children and Young People take into account the best interest of the child in all of its decisions and proposed measures for children, the Committee is concerned that the principle of the best interest of the child is not systematically or sufficiently integrated in legislation, policies, programmes and decision-making processes; para. 45: Act on Immigration does not take the best interests into account.	NA	(1) para. 9: notes with concern the absence of specific legislation dedicated to child protection covering basic provisions of the CRC; para. 23: call for raising minimum age for marriage to 18 in legislation; para. 31: call for legislation banning corporal punishment; para. 34: need to strengthen the legislation on child pornography; para. 43: lack of domestic legislation on asylum seekers and refugees, and absence of measures to protect unaccompanied and refugee children.	(2) para. 15: notes the economic grants provided by the State party during the economic crisis through different ministries to families in vulnerable situations; concerned about lack of specific budget allocated for the implementation of the CRC para. 16: more budget needed for vulnerable children; para. 41: more budget required for children with disabilities.	(2) para. 8: urge to address COs of the initial report that have not been sufficiently implemented, particularly those related to data collection; para. 17: notes the signing of a cooperation agreement with the Andorra Foundation to develop a joint national database; reiterates its previous concern at the lack of data on children and the absence of a centralized and comprehensive data collection system to analyse the situation of children, including the impact of the economic crisis; recalls that the absence of data on children severely restricts effective and systematic monitoring of children's rights as well as the designing and planning of policies and programmes. 5	Angola 2018	(2) para. 15: urges the State party to continue and strengthen its activities to combat discrimination, in particular with regard to CWDs, pregnant girls, children with HIV/AIDS, San children, LGBTI children and children in street situations, who are still exposed to discriminatory attitudes and behaviours.	(2) para. 16: Recognizing the State party's efforts to integrate the principle of the BIs of the child in its legislation (...) [and] recommends that the State party: (a) Strengthen its efforts to ensure that the principle of the BIs of the child is appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions and in all policies and programmes that are relevant to and have an impact on children; (b) Develop procedures and criteria to provide guidance to all relevant professionals for determining the BIs of the child in every area and for giving the BIs of the child due weight as a primary consideration.	(2) para. 17: welcomes the practice of holding national and provincial assemblies of children the day before each edition of the National Children's Forum, the guidelines on child participation being prepared by the National Institute of the Child and the National Child Participation Strategy (2014–2019). Recalling its previous COs ... and ... recommends that the State party continue to strengthen its efforts to ensure that children's views are given due consideration in the family, at home, in courts ..., in schools, in other children's institutions, in their communities and in all administrative and other proceedings concerning them...	(2) para. 5: welcomes the integration of the "11 Commitments for Children" in the Children's Act and notes the continuing efforts by the State party to harmonize its legislation relating to children. Recalling its previous COs (CRC/C/AGO/CO/2-4, para. 9), ... recommends that the State party accelerate harmonization of the remaining legislation with the Children's Act and the CRC and ensure that all the principles and provisions of the CRC are fully incorporated into the domestic legal system.	"(2) para. 9: notes that the State party has been implementing economic reform programmes and has tightened public spending owing to an economic downturn. ... recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that ... in particular the benefits from oil, gas and diamond industry revenues, are directed towards poverty reduction, especially among children; (b) Conduct a comprehensive assessment of the budget needs for children and allocate adequate budgetary resources ...; (c) Utilize a child-rights approach in planning the State budget ...; (e) Ensure transparent and participatory budgeting through public dialogue, especially with children ..."	(2) para. 10: While welcoming the statistical data provided ... and the State party's plans to use the data to strengthen measures for the holistic development of the child, ... notes that collection of reliable data continues to be a challenge. ... recommends to: (a) Create an integrated data-collection and management system ..., with data disaggregated by age, sex, type of disability, geographic location, ethnic and national origin and socioeconomic background, to facilitate analysis of the situation of all children, particularly those in situations of vulnerability; (b) Ensure that the data and indicators are shared among the ministries concerned and used.	(1) para. 13: Noting the difficulties faced by non-governmental organizations, ... recommends that the State party: (a) Strengthen its cooperation with civil society, including children's organizations, in the planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of policies, plans and programmes related to children's rights, including by providing support to their activities; (b) Involve children, including child human rights defenders, in its civil society cooperation framework.

6	Antigua and Barbuda 2017	(2) para 20: welcomes revised Status of Children Act (2015) as a means of eliminating stigma against children born out of wedlock. ... concerned that the grounds for constitutional protection from discrimination do not fully comply with CRC art. 2 and that there is no additional explicit prohibition of all forms of discrimination. ... concerned that some groups (CWDs, children living in poverty, of migrant parents, or informally adopted) suffer from discriminatory attitudes and disparities in accessing basic services.	(2) para. 22: welcomes the inclusion of the principle of the BI of the child in new legislation such as the Child Justice Act (2015) and the Children (Care and Adoption) Act (2015). However, ... concerned that the principle may not be fully implemented in practice.	(2) para. 24: notes as positive the progress in establishing mechanisms allowing students to voice their views at school (student councils) and the efforts to ensure respect for the views of the child, e.g. the establishment of a youth parliament. ... concerned about the limited recognition in the legislation of the child right to be heard and that the lack of general mechanisms promoting this right. ... concerned that e.g. children in administrative care and CWDs are often not consulted in matters concerning them.	(2) para. 4: ... welcomes the efforts made to carry out a comprehensive review of existing laws to ensure compliance and harmonization with the provisions of the CRC and notes as positive the adoption of the Status of Children Act (2015) and the Children (Care and Adoption) Act (2015). ... concerned ... that some legislation remains to be harmonized with the CRC.	(2) para. 10: takes note of the use of a programme-based budget. However ... remains concerned at the lack of targeted budgetary allocations for the implementation of the CRC, particularly for those provisions affecting children in marginalized and vulnerable situations. ... also concerned at the decline in the total budget allocated to the education and health sectors.	(2) para. 12: notes as positive the efforts being made to establish a systematic mechanism of data collection, but ... concerned that currently the collection of data on the status of children's rights remains weak, particularly data disaggregated by, inter alia, age, sex, geographical and socioeconomic background, which are pivotal for devising strategies and policies for the full implementation of the CRC and for assessing progress achieved towards that objective. 8	Armenia 2013	(1) para. 18: concerned at the prevalence of discrimination on the basis of gender ... particularly concerned about sex-selective abortion in rural areas ... remains concerned at the de facto discrimination against categories of children in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, including children with disabilities, children living with HIV, children from poor families, children living in rural areas, children in street situations and children living in institutions.	(1) para. 20: notes the inclusion of the "legitimate interests of the child" principle in the Family Code of 2004, but ... considers that the "legitimate interests of the child" is not equivalent to "the best interests of the child" in its scope. ... regrets the lack of information on guidelines and procedures for ensuring that the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken into account as a primary consideration is applied consistently throughout the State party's policies, legislation and programmes.	(2) para. 22: notes that the right to be heard is included in a number of laws, but is concerned that children's views are not taken into account on a regular basis in all matters that affect them and regrets that the existing Youth Parliaments are not functioning effectively. ... also concerned that consent to medical intervention for children under the age of 18 is given only by the child's representative.	(2) para. 8: notes the adoption of several child-related laws over the reporting period, in particular amendments to the Law on the Rights of the Child of 1996. ... also notes that numerous legislative initiatives aimed at improving the situation of children's rights are pending approval by the Parliament. ... regrets that adoption of some of this draft legislation has been delayed for several years, which has impeded the full and effective realization of children's rights in many areas.	(1) para. 10: notes the adoption of the National Programme for the Protection of Children's Rights for 2013-2016 and many other strategies and plans covering different areas of the CRC. However ... regrets that the programme and strategies lack adequate financial resources and mostly rely on funding by international organizations.; para. 14: concerned about the significant decrease in budget allocations, in particular in the areas of health and education ... and regrets the lack of information on a child rights based perspective in the budgeting process.	(1) paras. 6 and 7: need to address previous CO and develop a comprehensive system for the analysis of data collected in order to assess progress achieved in the realization of children's rights and to help design policies to implement the CRC. 9	Australia 2019	(1) para. 19: recalls previous COs (CRC/C/AUS/CO/4, para. 30) and urges the State party: (a) To address disparities in access to services by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children, CWDs, children in alternative care and asylum-seeking, refugee and migrant children, regularly evaluate the enjoyment by those children of their rights and prevent and combat discrimination; (b) To strengthen its awareness-raising and other activities aimed at preventing discrimination, including through school curricula, and take affirmative action for the benefit of the groups of children mentioned above.	(1) para. 20: recalls previous COs (CRC/C/AUS/CO/4, para. 32), and recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that procedures and criteria guiding all relevant persons in authority for determining the best interests of the child and for giving it due weight as a primary consideration are coherent and consistently applied ...; b) Make publicly available all judicial and administrative judgments and decisions regarding children, specifying the criteria used in the individual assessment of the best interests of the child. Para. 44: The best interests of the child are not a primary consideration in asylum, refugee and migration processes.	(1) para. 22: recalls previous COs (CRC/C/AUS/CO/4, para. 34); recommends to: (a) Amend the Family Law Act ... to provide all children, in accordance with their age and maturity, the opportunity to have their views heard ..., including in "non-court-based family services"; (b) Amend the Migration Act ... to guarantee respect for the views of the child at all stages of the migration process; ... (d) Enhance children's meaningful and empowered participation in the family, the community and schools, paying particular attention to girls, CWDs and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children; (e) Develop toolkits for public consultations with children ... including on climate change and the environment.	(1) para. 7: recalls previous COs on legislation (CRC/C/AUS/CO/4, para. 12) and again recommends, also as proactive measures, that the State party: (a) Enact comprehensive national child rights legislation fully incorporating the CRC and providing clear guidelines for its consistent and direct application throughout the states and territories of the State party; (b) Ensure that the resources of the Parliamentary Joint Committee on Human Rights are adequate and sufficient to effectively examine, including in consultation with the National Children's Commissioner and other interested parties, all proposed legislation and its impact on children's rights; (c) Guarantee that all proposed legislation is fully compatible with the CRC.	(1) para. 10: recalls previous COs (CRC/C/AUS/CO/4, para. 20); recommends to: (a) Allocate adequate human, technical and financial resources ... for the implementation of all policies, plans, programmes and legislative measures for children and implement a system for tracking the ... use of resources ...; (b) regularly assess the distributional impact of government investment on ... children's rights ... to address the disparities in child rights indicators [with] particular attention to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children; (c) Establish appropriate ... inclusive processes through which civil society, the public at large and children specifically may participate in all stages of the budget process.	(2) para. 11: welcomes the creation of the National Data Commissioner; recalls previous COs (CRC/C/AUS/CO/4, para. 22) and recommends to: (a) Ensure that data collected ... cover all areas of the CRC, in particular those relating to violence, alternative care, natural disasters and children in conflict with the law, ... disaggregated by age, sex, disability, geographic location, ethnic and national origin, and socio-economic background, and that they identify children in situations of vulnerability, such as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children, CWDs and asylum-seeking, refugee and migrant children; (b) Ensure that the data and indicators are shared among the ministries and used ... [for] policies, programmes and projects.	(1) para. 15: recommends that the State party strengthen its support to: (a) Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander organizations, including through capacity-building initiatives and increased resource allocation, and that it prioritizes them as service providers; (b) Organizations working with asylum-seeking, refugee and migrant children, as well as organizations working on climate change and environmental issues.

10	Austria 2020	(2) para. 4: urgent measures must be taken concerning non-discrimination; para 16: welcomes measures taken by the State party to combat hate speech and manifestations of neo-Nazism, racism, xenophobia and associated intolerance, such as the establishment of specialized units in the public prosecution offices for the investigation of incitement to hatred, and the inclusion of the issues of racism, xenophobia and associated intolerance in the syllabuses of the Austrian school system. However, ... remains concerned about reports of persistent direct and indirect discrimination against children on the grounds of race, disability, religion, national origin and socioeconomic status.	(2) para. 16: While noting the amendment in 2013 to section 138 of the Austrian Civil Code, in particular the inclusion of a twelve-point checklist with statutory criteria for safeguarding the BIs of the child and the establishment of a monitoring board (the Children's Rights Board), ... urges the State party to carry out impact assessments of proposed laws in a consistent manner in all legislative processes, and to establish compulsory processes for ex ante and ex post impact assessments of all laws and policies relevant to children on the realization of the right of the child to have his or her BIs taken as a primary consideration.	(2) para. 19: recommends that the State party: (a) Take further measures to ensure the effective implementation of legislation recognizing the right of the child to be heard in relevant legal/administrative proceedings; ... (c) ... extends the system of advocacy by a trusted person to all children in public institutions, including e.g. for CWDs, residential homes, boarding schools, psychiatric institutions, institutions for asylum seekers and children deprived of their liberty ...; (d) Promote the meaningful and empowered participation of all children within the family, communities and schools and include children in decision-making in all matters related to them ... etc.	(1): para. 4: urgent measures must be taken concerning legislation; para. 6: notes the constitutional amendment in 2018, which transferred exclusive competence over child and youth welfare protection to the Länder. However, ... concerned that the shift in competence may result in differentiated application of the legislation, fragmentation and inconsistencies in the implementation of children's rights across the State party. The conclusion of agreements between the federal Government and the Länder governments does not change this view.	(1) para. 8: recommends that the State party adopt an up-to-date, comprehensive policy on children that encompasses all areas covered by the Convention, and that it develop a strategy, supported by sufficient human, technical and financial resources, to implement it; para. 10: recommends that the State party incorporate a child rights perspective into its budgeting process, with clear allocations to children in the relevant sectors and agencies and with specific indicators and a tracking system to monitor and evaluate the adequacy, efficacy and equitability of the distribution of resources allocated for implementation of the Convention.	(1) para. 11: recommends that the State party expeditiously improve its data-collection system. The data should cover all areas of the Convention and should be disaggregated by land, age, sex, disability, geographic location, national and ethnic origin and socioeconomic background in order to facilitate analysis of the situation of all children, particularly those in situations of vulnerability. The State party should also ensure that the data and indicators are shared among the ministries concerned and used for the formulation, monitoring and evaluation of policies, programmes and projects for the effective implementation of the Convention. 14	Bangladesh 2015	(2) para. 24: While noting the State party's efforts to combat discrimination ... reiterates its previous concern that discrimination against certain groups of children, particularly girls, children with disabilities, children of ethnic and religious minorities, in particular Dalit and indigenous children, children living in rural areas, refugee and asylum-seeking children and children in street situations still exists in practice (see CRC/C/BGD/CO/4, para. 32).	(2) para. 28: welcomes the explicit inclusion of the principle of the best interests of the child in the National Children Policy and the Children Act. ... however, concerned that despite this legal recognition, the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken into account as a primary consideration is not adequately and systematically interpreted or applied by administrative, legislative and judicial bodies.	(2) para. 32: While noting the positive steps taken ... to implement the principle of respect for the views of the child, such as the Children's Opinion Poll 2013 ... remains concerned about the lack of information regarding the practical implementation of the right of the child to express his or her views in judicial and administrative proceedings and to participate in the preparation and implementation of policies and programmes affecting him or her. ... further concerned that the persistence of such practices may impede the consideration of the views of child within the family and alternative care settings.	(2) para. 8: welcomes the enactment of the Children Act in 2013 and notes that a number of child-related bills are still in the process of discussion and study. ... however concerned about the considerable delay in adopting the Education Act. It is also concerned about the limited implementation of child-related laws.	(2) para. 12: notes the State party's progressive increase of budget allocations for the Ministry of Women and Children Affairs and the establishment of public child-focused budgeting. However, ... concerned about the mismanagement of the allocation of resources, which is exacerbated by corruption, and the lack of effective monitoring and evaluation systems.	(2) para. 14: notes the State party's initiatives to improve data collection mechanisms, including the project to collect data in the nine districts using smart phones and mobile applications. ... however, remains concerned at the lack of reliable disaggregated data necessary for effective evaluation of the implementation of the CRC .... also reiterates its previous concern about the lack of coordination and collaboration among government agencies in data collection and the inadequate technical capabilities for data collection, analysis and reporting.	(2) para. 20: notes the State party's efforts to strengthen its cooperation with civil society. ... however, concerned that coordination remains weak, limiting the participation of civil society organizations and non-governmental organizations in formulating and monitoring policies and strategies to implement the CRC.

23	Botswana 2019	(2) para. 21: notes the prohibition of discrimination in the Children’s Act but is concerned that some groups of children suffer from discriminatory attitudes and disparities in accessing basic services.	(2) para. 23: welcomes the explicit recognition in the Children’s Act of the right of the child to have his or her interests taken as a primary consideration, and the positive application of the right in High Court judgments. Nonetheless, it remains concerned that this right is not fully implemented in decisions affecting children, particularly in the lower courts and by professionals who work with and for children.	(2) para. 27: While welcoming the establishment of the Children’s Consultative Forum and village child protection committees to facilitate child participation at the national and village levels, as well as school councils in secondary schools ... concerned that such mechanisms do not facilitate meaningful and empowered participation of children in matters that concern them. ... also concerned about the lack of procedures or protocols to ensure respect for the views of the child in administrative and judicial proceedings.	(2) para. 6: welcomes the adoption of the Children’s Act in 2009 and amendments to the Penal Code in 2018 to align it with the Convention but remains concerned that several laws relevant to children, including the Adoption of Children Act, the Marriage Act, the Affiliations Proceedings Act, the Deserted Wives and Child Protection Act and the Wills Act, are not in line with the Convention.	(2) para. 11: commends the State party for the substantial resources allocated to the social sector, including child and family benefits, but ... concerned that budget allocations do not match the needs; regrets the insufficient resources allocated to health and primary education, and the lack of a tracking system for the allocation and use of resources to implement children’s rights. Furthermore, while the Committee notes the efforts of the State party to combat corruption, it is concerned about incidences of corruption and illicit financial flows that divert resources necessary for the implementation of children’s rights.	(1) para. 13: Recalling previous COs (CRC/C/15/Add.242, para. 22), recommends to: (a) Expediently establish the social registry and ensure that it functions as a comprehensive data-collection system that covers all areas of the CRC, with data disaggregated by age, sex, disability, nationality, geographic location and socioeconomic background ...; (b) ensure the effective coordination and harmonization of data collection by the ministries concerned, CSOs and development partners to avoid duplication and discrepancies in data, including by widely sharing the data and indicators available; (c) Ensure that data is used ...; (d) Strengthen its technical cooperation with, among others, UNICEF.	(2) para. 17: notes that the State party cooperates with civil society through formal agreements. It is concerned, however, that civil society is not sufficiently consulted in aspects of children’s rights beyond those that involve service delivery.

26	Bulgaria 2016	"(2) para. 19: While noting as positive the introduction of a National Strategy ... for Roma Integration 2012 – 2020, ... remains deeply concerned at the persistent discrimination against Roma children. Of particular concern are reports indicating that existing discrimination against Roma in all areas of life is among the principal reason leading to their placement in institutions. Further concern is expressed that Roma children, as well as CWDs, asylum seeking and refugee children, minority children and children living in remote areas, continue to face discrimination with regard to access to education, health care and adequate housing."	"(2) para. 21: welcomes the amendments to the Child Protection Act in 2009 to ensure the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration, and notes the general framework established by the State party to ensure that the best interests of the child are upheld as a fundamental principle of child protection. However ... concerned about the continuing misunderstanding with respect to its meaning and the responsibilities it entails, particularly among the judiciary, child protection professionals and social workers."	"(2) para. 25: welcoming the ongoing efforts to ensure respect for the views of the child, incl. its consideration as one of the priority areas in the National Strategy for Children 2008-2018 ... concerned that implementation remains at the discretion of professionals involved in each case. Traditional practices and cultural attitudes in the family, schools and certain social and judicial settings further impede the full realisation of the rights of children to express their views freely. ... recognises the State's efforts through awareness raising campaigns but remains concerned that children in vulnerable situations, such as in administrative care and CWDs, are often not consulted."	"(2) para. 6: welcomes the progress made by the State party in harmonizing its domestic legislation with the principles of the CRC through the adoption of a new Family Code in 2009 (and amendments to the Child Protection Act, Family Allowance Act and Social Assistance Act), ... remains concerned at the lack of consistency between other key child related legislation, in particular the Persons and Family Act, and the Child Protection Act. Concern is also expressed at gaps in implementation as a result of vague interpretation of laws due to the insufficient capacity and awareness of child rights on the part of the judiciary."	(1) para. 11: concerned that the State party's budgeting process fails to stipulate budget allocations for children in the relevant sectors and agencies, including indicators and tracking systems at all levels, as well as targeted budget allocations for children in marginalized and vulnerable situations, such as Roma children, CWDs, migrant children and children of refugees and asylum seekers. ... further concerned that Bulgaria continues to have the lowest rate of GDP allocated to public education in the European Union.	"(2) para. 13: While noting the efforts that have been undertaken to develop a data collection system under the auspices of the State Agency for Child Protection and the National Statistical Institute, ... remains concerned that the lack of a unified centralised database, has resulted in a scarcity of disaggregated data on children, particularly on CWDs, children living in marginalised situations and Roma children." 47	Democratic People's Republic of Korea 2017	(2) para. 15: recalls it previous concluding observations (CRC/C/PRK/CO/4, para. 20) and recommends that the State party strengthen its efforts to monitor the implementation of the legal provisions against discrimination ... in compliance with CRC article 2 ... also recommends that the State party: (a) Take prompt measures to end discrimination against children based on the social status or political views of their parents; (b) Make information regularly available on the implementation of anti-discrimination laws, particularly regarding girls, children in rural and remote areas, children of non-nationals and CWDs.	"(1) para. 16: recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that this right is appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions ... as well as in all policies, programmes and projects that are relevant to or have an impact on children; (b) Develop procedures and criteria to guide all relevant persons in authority in determining the BIs of the child in every area and in giving them due weight as a primary consideration; (c) Establish compulsory processes for ex-ante and ex-post impact assessments on children's rights of all government policies and practices, including in the area of security."	(2) para. 18: notes the State party's efforts to involve children in matters related to their education and in celebration of the CRC. ... recommends that the State party conduct research to identify the issues that are most important to children and the mechanisms available to them to participate in and influence all matters concerning children in individual decisions at the local and national levels and, based on those findings, develop guidance to ensure that children's views are effectively taken into account.	(2) para. 6: welcomes the adoption in 2010 of the Act on the Protection of the Rights of the Child and recommends that the State party make the text of the Act and information regarding its implementation publicly available, and seek technical cooperation from, among others, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) to assist with its implementation and share international best practices and lessons learned.	(1) para. 8: recommends that the State party: (a) Strengthen economic mechanisms ... and policies that can protect the budget allocations to children's rights and needs over time ...; (b) Substantially increase the allocations in the health, education and social sectors ... ensuring equitable distribution among urban and rural areas; (c) Define budgetary lines for children in disadvantaged or vulnerable situations that may require affirmative social measures and make sure that those budgetary lines are protected even in situations of economic scarcity, natural disasters or other emergencies.	(2) para. 9: notes the State party's recent efforts on data collection. ... remains concerned about the overall absence of published information and the limited availability of official data, which prevents the systematic and comprehensive monitoring and evaluation of progress achieved and assessment of the impact of policies adopted with regard to children. ... seriously concerned about the lack of availability of data disaggregated by age, gender and location on child poverty, violence, abuse and neglect, stateless children, CWDs, adolescents, children deprived of a family environment, juvenile justice, children in street situations, education, health and the impact of climate change and disasters on children.	(1) para. 13: recalls its previous concluding observations (CRC/C/PRK/CO/4, paras. 13 and 14), and encourages the State party to create an enabling environment for the development of an independent civil society and to systematically involve organizations working on children's rights in the development, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of laws, policies and programmes related to children's rights.

48	Democratic Republic of the Congo 2017	(1) para. 15: noting the persistent discrimination against children ... including CWDs, children with HIV/AIDS, children accused of witchcraft, children with albinism, indigenous children, LGBT children, demobilized child soldiers and internally displaced children... recommends to adopt comprehensive legislation prohibiting discriminatory behaviour on any grounds. ... urges the State party to: (a) Take all measures ... to ensure the implementation of such legislation; (b) Adopt a comprehensive strategy to eliminate discrimination on any grounds and against all vulnerable groups; (c) Conduct studies to identify and act on causes of discrimination, carry out awareness-raising activities ... and train professionals working with and for children.	(2) para. 16: that there are gaps in the implementation of article 6 of the Child Protection Code, which provides for the BIs of the child to be considered in all decisions concerning him or her, ... recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that this right is integrated appropriately and applied consistently in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings, as well as in all policies, programmes and projects that are relevant to and have an impact on children; (b) Develop procedures and criteria to provide guidance to all relevant persons in authority for determining the BIs of the child in every area and for giving it due weight as a primary consideration.	(1) para. 20: In view of the low level of comprehension in society of the right of children to express their views and to have them taken into account and the limited support provided for organizing child parliaments throughout the country, the Committee draws the State party's attention to general comment No. 12 (2009) on the right of the child to be heard. ... recommends that the State party conduct programmes and awareness-raising activities to promote the meaningful and empowered participation of all children within the family, community and schools ... paying particular attention to children in vulnerable and marginalized situations.	(1) para. 7: Noting the insufficient implementation of legislation, in particular of the Act of 10 January 2009 on the protection of children (Child Protection Code), ... recommends that the State party take all measures necessary for implementing its legislation in compliance with the CRC, in particular by expediting the adoption of the decrees to establish mechanisms for the implementation of such legislation. ... also recommends that the State party ensure that the human, technical and financial resources for the implementation of legislation providing for the rights of children are adequate and sufficient.	(1) para. 10: recommends that the State party set up a budgeting process that includes a child rights perspective and specifies clear allocations to children ... including specific indicators and a tracking system to monitor and evaluate the adequacy, efficacy and equitability of the distribution of resources allocated to CRC implementation including by: (a) Setting performance targets linking child-related programme goals to budget allocations and actual expenditures ...; (b) Developing disaggregated budget lines and codes for all ... expenditures that directly affect children; (c) Using budget classification systems that allow for expenditures related to the rights of the child to be reported, tracked and analysed ....	(1) para. 11: recommends that the State party establish a centralized data collection system, and reiterates its previous recommendation (see CRC/C/COD/CO/2, para. 21) that the State party use the data collected as a basis for assessing progress achieved in the realization of child rights and to help design policies to implement the CRC. The State party should ensure that the information collected can be disaggregated by, inter alia, age, sex and geographic location and that it contains up-to-date data on a wide range of vulnerable groups, including former child soldiers, children living in poverty, street children and working children.	(1) para. 13: Noting the difficulties faced by non-governmental organizations in obtaining legal status, which in turn limits their access to funding, ... recommends that the State party facilitate the work of such organizations by ensuring their registration. ... also recommends that the State party strengthen further its collaboration with civil society organizations, including by providing support necessary to their activities in all areas related to the promotion and protection of the rights of children.

49	Denmark 2017	(2) para. 12: noting that discrimination is generally prohibited by law ... recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that all children ... have access to the standard educational system ...; (b) In view of discrimination based on disability or sexual orientation being prohibited solely in relation to employment, adopt specific anti-discrimination legislation explicitly prohibiting discrimination in all areas against CWDs and LGBTI children; (c) Continue taking awareness-raising measures to combat all forms of discrimination against children from ethnic minorities, asylum-seeking, refugee or Roma children, CWDs, and LGBTI children.	NA	"(2) para. 13: While noting with appreciation that many relevant pieces of legislation have strengthened the participation of children in decision-making ... recommends that the State party ensure that legislation recognizing the right of the child to be heard applies to decision-making at all levels of education, notably at private primary and lower secondary schools, and that these schools are also made to adhere to the Public Administration Act as regards consulting the parties."	(2) para. 7: While noting the explanation of the State party that children's rights are mainstreamed as a result of the principle of sectoral accountability, (...) concerned that this is insufficient in terms of legal security and accountability.	(1) para. 10: In view of recent spending cuts, including, inter alia, a 5% cut to child benefits, which will have a potentially negative impact on CRC implementation ..., in particular for children from low-income families, ... recommends that the State party refrain from implementing further cuts without having first carried out an assessment of the impact that austerity measures would have in areas that are directly and indirectly related to children's rights and repeal those measures that have a negative impact as soon as possible.	(2) para. 11: urges the State party to strengthen statistical systems and analysis on CRC implementation in the Faroe Islands and Greenland, and to ensure that data is systematically collected and used to inform policy and programmes in relation to poverty, violence and abuse. In general, it recommends that the State party continue to strengthen its capacity for the systematic collection and analysis of data disaggregated by, inter alia, age, sex and ethnic background for all areas covered by the Convention throughout its territory. 57	Eritrea 2015	(2) para. 24: positive ...efforts made ... to eliminate discrimination, in particular those aimed at reducing regional disparities in access to social services; concerned ... that: (a) certain forms of discrimination remain, including de facto discrimination against girls, ethnic minority and nomadic children; (b) children ... who follow religions that are not officially recognized are denied administrative services or educational opportunities; (c) the criminalization of consensual same-sex conduct ... encourages discrimination against LGBT persons, including children, as well as ... against children from families formed by such persons.	(2) para. 26: notes the efforts of the State party to incorporate the best interests of the child into certain laws and judicial proceedings. However ... concerned that the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken into account as a primary consideration may be misinterpreted and has not been fully and systematically incorporated by the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the State.	(1) para. 8: inadequate follow-up previous CO on respect for the views of the child.	(2) para. 9: notes that the State party conducted a comprehensive review of national legislation with regard to its conformity with the CRC. However ... regrets the lack of information on the recently adopted laws (see para. 4 above), and is concerned that the Constitution adopted in 1997 has never been formally implemented. Considering the State party's dualist system, ... concerned that, without effective implementation of the Constitution and legislative reforms, the provisions of the CRC are not legally binding in the domestic jurisdiction.	(1) para. 15: concerned that information regarding resource allocation for children is imprecise and not related to the total State budget or gross domestic product, and that a child rights approach is not applied in the preparation of the State budget; para. 17: notes with concern that corruption continues to be pervasive and diverts resources that could otherwise improve the implementation of the rights of the child, thereby weakening the efficiency and effectiveness of budgetary allocations for children.	(2) para. 19: welcomes the progress made in data collection in the area of health, including through the 2010 Eritrea Population and Health Survey. However ... concerned that the data collected through surveys are not released in a timely manner and that the system of data collection does not cover all areas of the CRC. ... notes that a national database based on the DevInfo system developed by the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) is not yet functional; concerned about lack of data on violence against children; on children without parental care and on children with disabilities (para. 38, 49 ad 53).	(1) para. 22: remains seriously concerned about the limitations placed on human rights defenders and civil society organizations, including those working on children's rights, and in particular regrets the severe administrative and practical restrictions placed on their independent operations.

58	Estonia 2017	NA	(2) para. 20: welcomes the inclusion of the principle of the BIs in the 2016 Child Protection Act. ... however concerned that there is no best interests impact assessment of national legislation and local regional initiatives on children's rights and methodological guidance to assess the BIs is limited.	(2) para. 22: notes that the national legislation states that a child who is 10 years or older shall be heard in decisions which concern him or her and that the court may also hear younger children. ... however, concerned that in practice there is often a tendency by judges to hear only children who are older than 10 years. While noting that children have the opportunity to express their views through participation in youth centres and youth councils, ... concerned at reports that children in the State party frequently feel that their opinion has no influence at the national level.	(2) para. 4: welcomes the adoption of the new Child Protection Act, in force since 1 January 2016, as an important step for further enhancing children's rights policies and strategies in the State party. ... however, concerned about the lack of measures to evaluate the Act, including through regular assessment of relevant by-laws and the development of impact assessments in relation to implementing regulations and by-laws.	"(1) para. 8: remains concerned that legislation, strategies and policies are not linked to detailed resource allocation. ... further concerned about: (a) The continuing absence of a comprehensive State and municipal system to analyse and monitor budgetary allocations for implementing all the CRC provisions; (b) The limited public participation in budgetary processes; (c) The ongoing impact of structural adjustment and austerity measures on children's rights in the post-economic-crisis period."	(2) para. 10: welcomes the various measures taken to improve the collection, processing and publication of statistical data, particularly through the establishment of the STAR case management database. ... however concerned that: (a) Statistics on children relating to all areas of the CRC are not published annually along with regular statistics; (b) Mainstream statistics do not contain child-focused data; (c) Available data is held in several databases which are not integrated.	(2) para. 16: notes the information provided by the State party that non-profit associations are involved in the discussions on, decision-making and drafting of legislation on children's rights, in particular issues relating to parenting, education and adoption. ... nevertheless concerned that funding, notably for NGOs that are delivering services on behalf of the State, is mostly project based and unpredictable, which negatively impacts the sustainability of their activities.

(2) para. 16: notes with appreciation the integration of the principle of the BIs in the Children Act and other laws, but is concerned about the insufficient application of the principle in administrative and judicial proceedings and insufficient knowledge among professionals working with children. ... recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that the principle of the BIs is consistently applied in programmes and legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings, including in relation to parental custody and mediation, and decisions on asylum, international protection and residence permits; (b) Provide guidance to all relevant persons in authority for determining the BIs in every area and for giving those interests due weight as a primary consideration.	(2) para. 17: ... welcomes the efforts to promote child participation in decision-making processes, including in the preparation of the State party's report and through the national assembly on child matters, municipal and special youth councils, the advisory group to the Ombudsman for Children and action plans on child participation, but is concerned that younger children are not always given the opportunity to have their views heard in all matters concerning them. Recalling its previous COs ... recommends that the State party: (a) Amend the Youth Act to ensure that all municipalities establish youth councils ...; (b) Ensure that all children can express their opinion and be heard in all decisions affecting them ...	(2) para. 6: recommends that the State party conduct a review of all its legislation to align it with the Convention, in line with the strategy and action plan on child-friendly Iceland, and develop child-rights impact assessment procedures for national and subnational legislation and policies relevant to children.	(1) para. 9: recommends that the State party incorporate a child rights-based approach into the State budgeting process to: (a) Elaborate and implement procedures for the allocation, use and monitoring of resources for children throughout the State party, and assess how investments in all sectors serve the best interests of the child; (b) Ensure transparent and participatory budgeting processes at State and municipal levels in which civil society, the public and children can participate effectively.	(2) para. 10: notes with appreciation the establishment of a government steering committee on a children's welfare dashboard in 2020 and that a national dashboard on the well-being, health and rights of children will be established in 2022. Recalling its previous COs ... recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that the dashboard collects both qualitative and quantitative indicators encompassing all areas of the CRC, and that the data are disaggregated by age, sex, disability, geographical location, ethnic origin, nationality and socioeconomic background; (b) Strengthen the collection and analysis of data on discrimination against children, CWDs, mental health, and violence against children ... 80	India 2014	(1) para. 31: concerned at the disparity among different groups of children in access to education, health care, safe water and sanitation and other social services and to the enjoyment of the rights enshrined in the CRC ... persisting discrimination against children from scheduled castes and scheduled tribes, children with disabilities, children with HIV/AIDS, as well as asylum-seeking and refugee children; para. 33: deeply concerned about the pervasive discrimination against girls and women in the State party and the persistent patriarchal attitudes and deep-rooted stereotypes and practices that perpetuate discrimination against girls.	(2) para. 35: While noting that the National Policy for Children, 2013, incorporates the principle of the best interests of the child as a guiding principle in all administrative and judicial proceedings, policies and programmes relating to children, the Committee is concerned at the lack of detailed information on measures taken to ensure that, in practice, the right of children to have their best interests taken as a primary consideration is consistently applied by professionals working for and with children in all areas affecting them; para. 59: concerned that the best interests of the child are not always taken into account, including when sentencing parents.	(2) para. 37: welcomes the State party's initiatives, such as the Child Reporters Initiative, to increase children's participation in society, as well as its efforts to increase children's participation in civil proceedings affecting their rights and well-being. However, the Committee is concerned that children are generally not perceived as rights holders by society and that their participation in the public sphere and opportunities to have their voices heard in the family, schools, community and at the central level are insufficient.	(2) para. 11: notes that since the consideration of its second periodic report, the State party has adopted or amended a number of federal laws to strengthen the legislative framework for children's rights. However, the legislation still does not cover the full scope of the CRC ... concerned that the different levels of authority and competencies within the State party's federal structure have resulted in a differentiated application of the legislation on children's rights and fragmentation and inconsistencies in the implementation of children's rights across the State party.	(2) para. 17: notes the State party's efforts to improve the planning and budgetary processes and to increase the budget allocated to schemes and programmes for children ... concerned that budget allocations do not adequately take into consideration child protection needs. It is also concerned at the mismanagement of allocated resources, which is exacerbated by a high level of corruption, and the lack of effective monitoring and evaluation systems.	"(1) para. 19: particularly concerned at the scarcity of available data on children between 15 and 18 years and limitations in the type of data collected, which does not cover all areas of the CR; para. 55: concerned at: (a) The lack of disaggregated data on children in need, children provided with services and in different forms of alternative care, support services for parents and kinship caregivers, abandonment, neglect and abuse of children and measures adopted, other than legislation; para. 85: lack of data on sale, trafficking and abduction of children; para. 87: inadequate data on children in conflict with the law."	(2) para. 27: notes with appreciation the State party's coordination with NGOs in various areas of service delivery ... concerned that such cooperation is not systematic and that the State party appears to delegate the provision of services for children to NGOs contracted by the respective states, but does not monitor and evaluate the quality of the services delivered.

81	Indonesia 2014	(2) para. 3: welcomes adoption of Law No. 28 (2008) on the Elimination of Racial and Ethnic Discrimination; para. 19: while welcoming the State party's gender mainstreaming programme ... deeply concerned about discriminatory provisions that still remain in national legislation and the prevalence of de facto discrimination, including: (a) discrimination against girls ...; (b) particular discrimination against CWDs in access to health care and education; (c) ongoing severe discrimination against children belonging to certain religious minorities and the State party's failure to deter attacks; (d) various forms of discrimination against children belonging to indigenous communities, such as insufficient access to education and health care.	(1) para. 21: regrets that despite its previous recommendations, the principle of the best interests of the child is not integrated into most child-related legislation in the State party ... notes with concern that decisions regarding adoption and custody are often taken on the basis of the child's religion, rather than his or her best interests, and that, according to Sharia law applicable to Muslims, in divorce proceedings decisions relating to custody of children are based on their age.	(2) para. 25: welcoming the establishment of the National Forum for Child Participation, the Teen Parliament, the Indonesian Child Congress, the Child Council, Election of Young Leaders, and National Child Consultation, ... concerned that these forums are not fully inclusive, children's opinions voiced in these forums are not sufficiently taken into consideration in decision-making processes, Law No. 23/2002 establishing the right of the child to be heard, requires that the right be applied in accordance with "morality and decency", which hampers effective, transparent implementation.	(1) para. 11: notes with concern that the provisions of the CRC have not been fully incorporated into the State party's domestic law. Furthermore, ... concerned that, further to the decentralization process that has led to the formation of new provinces and districts, with each one responsible for delivering public services, several by-laws adopted at the provincial or district level are inconsistent with the provisions and principles of the CRC; para. 19: concerned about discriminatory provisions that still remain in national legislation.	(2) para. 15: concerned about the State party's total health expenditure of only 2,7 per cent of its gross domestic product in 2011, which it considers to be low. Furthermore, while welcoming the significant increase in the annual education budget, ... regrets that the budget is not sufficient to ensure education for all children in the State party; para. 61: insufficient budget allocations for early childhood care and education.	(1) para. 8: reiterates its recommendations that the State party continue to upgrade its system of data collection to cover all areas of the CRC; para. 43: lack of an adequate system of disaggregated data collection on children living in institutions; para. 45: The absence of systematic data collection on children with disabilities. 82	Iran (Islamic Republic of) 2016	(1) para. 8 inadequate follow-up to previous CO on non-discrimination; para. 29: expresses grave concern about the persistent discrimination against girls in the State party's legislation, and in practice in many aspects of life, such as the discriminatory treatment of girls in family relations, the criminal justice system, property rights, and compensation for physical injury. ... particularly concerned that under the State party's legislation, there is obligatory male guardianship over girls, which is incompatible with the CRC. ... also concerned that gender stereotypes and patriarchal values place severe limitations on girls' enjoyment of their rights under the CRC.	(2) para. 33: notes with appreciation the Act on Family Protection, of 2013, which stipulates that "the best interest of children and adolescents should be respected in all courts and executive officials' decisions". However, ... remains concerned that the right of the child to have his or her BIs taken as a primary consideration is not enforced in actions or decision-making relating to children, including in matters related to family law. In particular, ... remains concerned that article 1169 of the Civil Law relating to the custody of children after divorce prevents the court from taking into account the BIs of the child.	(1) para. 41: remains concerned with regard to respect for the views of the child in judicial decisions concerning custody or divorce and in administrative decisions, when the child's view is only heard through the father or paternal grandfather or another appointed guardian and not from the child directly. Furthermore, ... concerned that the views of the child are not heard in the family, at school and in society, owing to societal attitudes towards children, and that the State party has not taken measures to sufficiently inform the public about the right of children to participate in all matters affecting them.	(2) para. 11: takes note of several pieces of legislation adopted by the State party during the reporting period, and the amendments to the Islamic Penal Code in 2013. However, ... remains concerned that a number of the State party's laws, including the Islamic Penal Code, remain discriminatory against girls and against religious and ethnic minorities, depriving them of a number of their rights under the CRC. ... also concerned about the wide discretion given to the judiciary in interpreting and implementing laws.	(1) para. 17: concerned that the State party did not provide any information on a targeted allocation of budgetary resources for the implementation of children's rights under the CRC, in particular for implementation of the rights of children belonging to disadvantaged and marginalized groups, as previously recommended (see CRC/C/15/Add.254, para. 15 (b)).	(2) para. 19: notes the data provided by the State party in the areas of education, breastfeeding, children deprived of family environment, and children in the justice system, as well as the establishment of the "Human Treasure" database to collect data concerning children. However, ... concerned about the lack of information as to whether the database allows for the systematic and comprehensive collection of disaggregated quantitative and qualitative data for all areas covered by the CRC in relation to all groups of children in order to monitor and evaluate progress achieved and assess the impact of policies adopted with respect to children.	(1) para. 25: seriously concerned about the reported repression of non-governmental organizations (NGOs) working on children's rights, and about harassment and persecution of child rights defenders.

83	Iraq 2015	(1) para. 17: concerned about the persistent and extreme gender-based discrimination which girls experience from the earliest stages of their lives and throughout their childhood and which exposes them to domestic violence; psychological and sexual exploitation and abuse; early, forced and temporary (muta'a) marriage; and little access to education; para. 19: concerned about persistent discrimination against various groups of children ... including children belonging to ethnic and/or religious minority groups ...; born out of wedlock; with disabilities ...; and LGBT children, children who are cared for by persons from these groups and children demonstrating non-conformist social behaviour.	(1) para. 21: notes with concern that the State party has insufficiently integrated into its legislation the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration, and that public officials have not been provided with training on this issue.	(1) para. 29: concerned that the draft children's parliament act has still not been adopted. ... also concerned about the absence of any legal provision explicitly enabling the child to express his or her views in matters concerning himself or herself and the fact that decisions concerning children, including marriage decisions, are most of the time imposed upon them.	(2) para. 8: welcomes the information provided by the delegation during the interactive dialogue that the draft Jaafari personal status law has been abandoned, and the commitment that it will never be tabled again; para. 9: ... also notes with appreciation that a number of child-related bills are still in the process of discussion and study, namely, the draft child protection act, the proposed child protection law in the autonomous Kurdistan region, the Children's Parliament Bill and the Child Welfare Authority Bill; para. 10: urges the State party to expedite the process of adoption of these bills/ acts, ensuring their full compatibility with the provisions of the CRC.	(1) paras. 7b and e: inadequate follow-up to previous CO on budgetary allocations; para. 60: concerned that, while the armed conflict is having a devastating impact on the availability and quality of health care, the State party devotes a low percentage of the federal budget to its health-care system; para. 72(d): inadequacy of the budgetary allocation for education.	(1) para. 7d: inadequate follow-up to previous CO on data collection, with a view to incorporating all the areas covered by the CRC.	(1) para. 15: concerned that civil society organizations and human rights defenders, including those working specifically on children's rights and those assisting women and girls fleeing violence, are the subject of regular harassment, arbitrary surveillance and warrantless searches and that many are forced to operate illegally and clandestinely.

86	Italy 2019	(1) para. 14: reiterates its previous COs (CRC/C/ITA/CO/3-4, para. 24), in particular: (a) The disparities between regions in access to health-care services, the minimum standard of living and education for all children throughout the country; (b) The prevalence of negative attitudes towards children based on their status, origin, sexual orientation or gender identity.	(2) para. 16: Recognizing the State party's efforts to integrate the principle of the BIs into its legislation ...; recommends to: (a) Strengthen efforts to ensure that the principle of the BIs of the child is appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied in all regions across the country in all ... proceedings and decisions, all policies, programmes and projects that are relevant to ... children, in particular in relation to unaccompanied or separated children; (b) Develop procedures and criteria to provide guidance to all relevant professionals for determining the BIs ... and for giving the BIs due weight as a primary consideration, in particular in relation to unaccompanied or separated children ... ; (c) Disseminate ... general comment No. 14.	"(2) para. 17: welcoming the introduction into legislation of the right of the child to be heard in selected settings; reiterating previous COs (CRC/C/ITA/CO/3-4, para. 27); recommends that the State party: (a) Introduce a comprehensive legal provision establishing the right of the child to be heard without any discrimination due to age, disability or any other circumstance, both in the family environment and in any administrative, judicial or mediation procedure in which the child is affected, and ensure that the child's opinion is taken into account in accordance with the child's age and maturity, and adopt national uniform standard implementing regulations and guidelines; ... (c) Promote meaningful and empowered participation of all children."	(3) para. 3: notes with appreciation also the legislative, institutional and policy measures taken to implement the Convention, in particular the adoption of Law No. 71 of 29 May 2017, on the protection of children in preventing and countering cyberbullying; Law No. 47 of 7 April 2017, on measures to protect unaccompanied foreign children; Legislative Decree No. 66 of 13 April 2017, on rules for the promotion of the inclusion of students with disabilities; and the fourth national plan of action and interventions for the protection of the rights and the development of children and adolescents, adopted in 2016.	(2) para. 7: appreciates the efforts made by the State party since 2012 to mitigate the negative impact and in particular the high levels of unemployment and poverty, including child poverty, that are the result of the austerity measures taken by the Government since 2010. Nevertheless, ... concerned that the austerity measures continue to undermine the effective protection of children's rights in the State party, and that the preparation, approval, execution and monitoring of budgets lacks a child rights perspective.	(2) para. 9: recommends that the State party continue to improve its data-collection system, in particular the informative system for social services, including by continuously extending its dataset, to cover all areas of the Convention, and disaggregate data by age, sex, disability, geographic location, ethnic and national origin and socioeconomic background in order to facilitate analysis of the situation of all children, particularly those in situations of vulnerability.	(1) para. 12: deeply concerned by continuing smear campaigns against some civil society organizations engaged in search and rescue operations for migrants, including children, in the Mediterranean; ... urges the State party to guarantee the rights and freedom of action of civil society and to ensure that the rescue of migrants is not considered a crime.

87	Jamaica 2015	(1) para. 42: Children with disabilities continue to face discrimination and are not effectively integrated into all areas of social life, including the education system.	(2) para. 22: welcomes the adoption of the Child Care and Protection Act of 2004 which outlines the best interests of the child standard as the primary consideration with respect to a wide range of areas. However, ... reiterates its concern ... about insufficient information regarding the ... efforts to ensure the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken into account as a primary consideration in all actions, and to apply that right in all legislation, administrative and judicial proceedings, policies and programmes relating to children. ... specifically concerned about the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken into account in criminal proceedings concerning his or her parents, including in sentencing guidelines.	(2) para. 26: notes the State party's efforts to ensure respect for the views of the child in courts, schools, the family and relevant administrative processes, as well as in judicial proceedings. ... also notes the numerous child participation initiatives by various government agencies, including the Child Development Agency and the Office of the Children's Advocate. ... is concerned, however, that traditional and cultural practices do not readily accommodate and recognize the views of the child in the home, alternative care centres, schools and communities; and that respect for the views of the child is not adequately implemented in practice in all relevant areas and at the national and local levels.	(2) para. 8: welcomes the adoption of the Child Care and Protection Act, 2004 as the legislative framework for the implementation of the CRC in the State party, along with other relevant legislation, and notes that the Act is currently being reviewed with a view to bringing the legislation further into line with the CRC. ... however, is concerned that inadequate human and financial resources have been provided for the full and effective implementation of the Act; para. 30: notes the significant progress in enacting legislation prohibiting corporal punishment in the penal system, alternative care settings and early childhood institutions.	(2) para. 14: In the light of the current financial crisis, ... notes the State party's efforts to allocate resources towards achieving important child-related goals together with international development and funding partners ...; however, concerned about the number of children living in poverty, and the negative effects of austerity measures on public spending, which affect ... families with children. ... further concerned about the lack of data on the proportion of budgetary allocations for the implementation of children's rights under the CRC and on specific information on the impact of austerity measures on children in the State party; para. 38: welcomes the budgetary increases for the Child Development Agency.	(2) para. 16: welcomes the establishment of a comprehensive database (JamStats) ... also notes efforts to "institutionalize" the JamStats database in all relevant ministries, agencies and civil society organizations, and to train stakeholders. ... is, however, concerned about gaps in the overall data collection apparatus of the State party, in particular with respect to children with disabilities, children in situations of migration, children in street situations, child labour and lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and intersex children; para. 58e: lack of disaggregated data on child labour. (2) para. 19: While noting the willingness of the State party to make the best interests of the child one of the key principles of its interim Personal Status Code, Act No. 36 of 2010, ... concerned that there is a misinterpretation of the best interests of the child as reflected in several provisions of the Act, in particular those relating to child custody, marriage, inheritance and transmission of nationality, which are incompatible with the right of children to have their best interests taken into consideration. ... particularly concerned that, according to the law ... and jurisprudence of the State party, the marriage of a girl to her rapist can be considered as being in her best interests.	(2) para. 23: welcomes the initiatives taken by the State party over the reporting period to promote the right of the child to be heard, in particular through the consultation of children in the context of the preparation of the State party's report, the Second National Youth Survey and the creation of children's parliaments. The Committee nevertheless reiterates its concern that legal and administrative proceedings do not systematically provide for the right of children to be heard and that respect for the views of children remains limited owing to traditional societal attitudes towards children, and especially girls, within the family and the community at large.	(2) para. 11: notes with appreciation that the legal status of the CRC and its precedence over domestic laws was clarified by its publication in the official gazette pursuant to Act No. 50 of 2006, in accordance with the Committee's previous recommendation ... concerned about the considerable delay in adopting the Children's Rights Bill and the draft law on juvenile justice ... concerned that efforts made to harmonize the domestic legal framework with the principles and provisions of the CRC have remained insufficient; para. 31: concerned that the legislation of the State party fails to protect boys from sexual abuse and exploitation or to provide sentences commensurate with the gravity of sexual crimes against children.	(2) para. 13: welcomes the study undertaken by the National Council for Family Affairs to analyse budget allocations for children, as well as the development of a budget model that includes strategic goals and tasks for each ministry, with a view to meeting children's needs and protecting their rights ... concerned that general cuts in the national budget have been threatening the progress achieved by the State party in the field of children's development.	(1) para. 8: reiterates its recommendations to the State party to Strengthen its mechanisms for data collection by establishing a central database on children, and ensure that data are collected on all areas covered by the CRC and that such data are disaggregated, inter alia, by age for all persons under 18 years, by sex, by urban and rural areas and by those groups of children who are in need of special protection; para. 41: Limited data is available regarding children with disabilities. 90	Kazakhstan 2015	(2) para. 20: While noting the numerous legislative acts that prohibit discrimination against children in vulnerable situations, ... concerned that the implementation of such acts is insufficient and that discrimination against children with disabilities, children in rural areas, children residing in areas of environmental disasters, non-citizen children and children from poor families persists, especially with regard to their access to education and health care. ... also regrets that the State party's legislation does not contain a definition of "discrimination" as prescribed in the CERD.	(2) para. 7 inadequate follow-up to previous CO on best interests; para. 22: While noting that the principle of the best interests of the child is incorporated into the State party's legislation, including the Constitution, ... concerned about the lack of proper understanding and practical application of the best interests of the child in deciding all matters concerning children, in accordance with article 3 of the CRC.	(2) para. 7 inadequate follow-up to previous CO on respect for the views of the child; para. 24: notes the information provided by the State party at the dialogue that, in practice, the courts ask a child's opinion irrespective of his or her age in cases where the child's interests are at stake. However, ... concerned that the State party has maintained the age limit for a child to express his or her views at 10 years in its legislation. Furthermore, ... concerned about the low levels of children's participation in decision-making processes on issues that have a direct impact on them.	(2) para. 8: welcomes the adoption of numerous legislative acts addressing the rights of children and bringing the State party's legislation closer to the provisions of the CRC. ... notes the decision of the Supreme Court of 10 July 2008 ordering the courts to directly apply international treaties to which Kazakhstan is a party and information provided by the State party during the dialogue with the Committee about the draft code of civil procedure soon to be adopted, which will make direct application of these international treaties mandatory. However, ... concerned that implementation of the State party's legislation and the CRC overall remains insufficient.	(1) para. 12: regrets the lack of information about any targeted and transparent budget allocations for children, in particular for those in marginalized and disadvantaged situations.	(2) para. 7: inadequate follow-up to previous CO on data collection; para. 14: While noting the extensive data provided by the State party both in its report and its written replies, ... concerned that the data provided are not sufficiently specific to enable effective evaluation of the general situation of children in the country. 91	Kenya 2016	(1) para. 6: inadequate follow-up to previous CO on non-discrimination; para. 21: expresses concern at the fact that discrimination against certain groups of children still exists in policy as well as in practice, particularly in respect of girls, CWDs, children with HIV/AIDS, refugee children, indigenous children, Nubian children, children in street situations and children from disadvantaged or marginalized families.	(2) para. 23: ... welcomes recognition in the Constitution of the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration. However, ... concerned that this right is often not respected in informal justice systems or in dispute resolution outside of courts of justice, in particular with regard to cases of sexual offences.	(2) para. 27: ... welcomes the establishment of the Kenya Children's Assembly at national, county and sub-county levels. Nevertheless ... concerned that the Children's Assembly is not open or accessible to certain groups of children, such as refugee children and CWDs.	(2) para. 4: notes with appreciation the adoption of specified legislation; para. 7: ... welcomes the adoption in 2010 of the revised Constitution, which explicitly recognizes certain rights of the child. However, ... remains concerned that the harmonization of national legislation, including the Children Act (2001), with the CRC and the Constitution has not been completed.	(2) para. 11: notes that the amount of budget allocation to the social sectors has increased during the period under review. However, ... concerned that: (a) Increased budget allocations in certain areas, including education and social protection, still do not match the over-whelming needs in these sectors; (b) No measures have been taken on budget tracking from a child rights perspective ...; (c) Despite the efforts made to eradicate corruption, it remains pervasive in the State party and continues to divert resources that are necessary for implementation of the rights of the child.	(2) para. 13: notes that a number of information management systems on several aspects of the rights of the child are being developed. However, ... remains concerned that there is neither a comprehensive system to monitor and track the realization of all rights of the child at the national and county levels, nor a sufficient disaggregation of the data on children to enable planning and resource allocation.	(2) para. 17: notes as positive the participation of civil society organizations in the monitoring of the implementation of the CRC through the National Council for Children's Services. However, ... concerned that the Public Benefits Organizations Act (2013) which prescribes the governance of civil society organizations has not been implemented and notes that there is concern that it may be amended with provisions that could undermine the activities of civil society organizations.

92	Kiribati 2022	(2) para. 19: welcomes the legislative measures to eradicate discrimination, such as the Education Act of 2013, which prohibits discrimination against pregnant girls in school. ... concerned, however, about the following: (a) The de facto discrimination experienced by children living in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, including children living in poverty, girls and CWDs; (b) The criminalization of homosexuality and lack of protection of LGBTI children from discrimination, stigma and violence.	(2) para. 21: takes note of the information provided by the State party that the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration in legal proceedings, in particular in custody cases, is now recognized over customary law. ... concerned, however, about the effective implementation of that right and its application in decisions affecting children, including in the family, school, the community and administrative and judicial proceedings.	(1) para. 23: concerned about the limited recognition of the right of the child, in particular of girls and children with disabilities, to be heard and have their views given due consideration in law and in practice, including on climate change issues, owing to the prevalence of traditional attitudes regarding the lesser and limited role that children can exert in society.	(2) para. 6: While noting with appreciation the adoption of several key pieces of legislation, in particular the Children, Young Persons and Family Welfare Act, in 2013, the Committee concerned that the State party has not brought all national laws into line with the Convention and that the existing legislation is not fully implemented.	(1) para. 12: recalling its previous COs, ... recommends that the State party: (a) Increase the budget allocations for the implementation of all legislation, policies, plans and programmes related to children, in all relevant sectors; (b) Take a child rights-based approach in the elaboration of the State budget by setting up a tracking system for the allocation and use of resources for children throughout the budget; (c) Increase budgetary resources designated as specifically for children to the maximum extent possible, in accordance with article 4 of the Convention, and thereby take measures to reduce reliance on foreign assistance.	"(1) para. 13: recalling its previous COs ... recommends that the State party: (a) Strengthen the capacity of the national statistical office to develop and operationalize a comprehensive national system of data collection that allows for disaggregation of data by relevant factors, incorporating all areas covered by the CRC, including violence against children, and covering all children; (b) Allocate sufficient human, technical and financial resources to the national statistical office to ensure continuous data collection; (c) Ensure that the data and indicators are shared among the ministries concerned and used for the formulation, monitoring and evaluation of policies, programmes and projects for the effective implementation of the Convention." 99	Liberia 2012	(1) para. 33: regrets that insufficient measures have been taken to implement previous COs on discrimination, in particular against children in vulnerable situations; particularly concerned at the extent of gender-based discrimination in the State party, in particular against girls living in and coming from rural areas, who experience persistent discrimination in relation to access to education and social services, and their right to property and security. Statutory and customary laws which discriminate against women remain in force, in particular the Revised Rules and Regulations governing the Hinterland; also concerned about harassment and stigmatization of children with disabilities.	(2) para. 35: While commending the incorporation of the principle of the best interests of the child in the Children's Law, concerned that this principle is not systematically reflected in the State party's legislation and national policies; further concerned about the general societal perception in the State party that the best interests of adults should prevail over those of the child.	(2) para. 39: While commending the State party for establishing a Children's Parliament as well as child clubs at all county levels by virtue of the Children's Law, the Committee is concerned that the views of children on decisions affecting them are rarely given due weight, especially in the home, and in particular that girls are expected to be less participative than boys. Children are not provided with the opportunity to be heard in all judicial and administrative proceedings affecting them, in accordance with their age and maturity, including in cases of deprivation of parental rights.	(2) para. 9: call to implement previous COs on legislation; para. 10: welcomes the enactment of the Children's Law in February 2012; remains concerned that the State party has not undertaken a complete review of its legislation in order to harmonize it with the CRC, and that some provisions of the existing legislation and customary law are not consistent with the principles and provisions of the CRC, in particular those relating to the minimum age for marriage, adoption, and juvenile justice.	(2) para. 14: regrets the lack of information on the resources allocated to the Division, while noting that its parent Ministry receives one of the lowest budgetary allocations from the national budget; para. 16: While noting that Liberia was one of the countries in Africa that performed fairly in 2006-2008 in allocating resources to sectors that benefit children, remains concerned that national budgetary resources for CRC implementation remain very insufficient.	(2) para. 20: notes the State party's intention to create a central data collection system in areas concerning children together with the Child Protection Network; reiterates its concern about the lack of information and the inability to access disaggregated data about children on most areas, in particular children in poverty, children subjected to violence, children with disabilities, children deprived of a family environment and children engaged in child labour.	(2) para. 28: The State party is encouraged to strengthen its cooperation with civil society for CRC implementation; recommends that the State party consider strengthening the capacity of civil society in order to allow it to effectively discharge its duties, including funding local non-governmental organizations to support activities in communities where the State is not present.

100	Libya 2003	(1) para. 7: reiterates concern that several CRC rights (e.g. non-discrimination) are not adequately reflected in the laws, incl. personal status laws; para. 23: concerned that ... discrimination ... against certain children, their parents or legal guardians, persists ... particularly with respect to birth out of wedlock; para. 25: concerned that xenophobia, particularly towards migrant workers, persists ... and that it is harmful to the child's developing respect for human rights, including the right to non-discrimination.	(1) para. 7: reiterates concern that several CRC rights (e.g. the BIs) are not adequately reflected in the laws, incl. personal status laws; para. 27: concerned that the general principle of the BIs ... is not explicitly incorporated in all legislation concerning children and is not always considered in practice; not persuaded that a rigid custodial line of mother, maternal grandmother and father and the exclusion from custodial arrangements of foreign parents abroad necessarily give effect to this principle.	(2) para. 29: welcomes efforts by the State party to promote respect for the views of children, such as in school congresses, courts, and institutions; concerned that traditional attitudes towards children in society may limit the respect for their views, especially within the family.	(2) para. 7: notes the adoption of the Child Protection Act No. 5 of 1997, in addition to the numerous other laws and decisions that have been adopted with a view to improving the welfare of children; concerned, however, that many measures reflect a predominantly welfare-rather than rights-based approach.	(2) para. 15: welcomes information on progress achieved in addressing economic disparities between regions, but is concerned at the lack of specific information in terms of the percentage of the national budget allocated for expenditures in the various CRC areas, and that insufficient attention has been given to the allocation of resources for programmes and policies to promote the civil and political rights of children.	"(3) para. 11: notes progress in the collection of data on children by the National Organization for Information and Documentation and the sectoral information and documentation centres."	"(2) para. 17: notes information on cooperation with national associations in the development and welfare sectors, but is concerned that little effort has been made to involve civil society in CRC implementation, particularly in the area of civil rights and freedoms; notes that the delegation was unable to provide complete information on the limitations imposed by law on, in particular, the registration and funding of organs of civil society."

102	Lithuania 2013	(1) para. 16: concerned about gaps in the implementation of the 2008 Equal Opportunities Law and ongoing discrimination against children in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, including children with disabilities, Roma children, children living in poverty, children living in care institutions and children in conflict with the law.	(1) para. 18: concerned that the “best interests of the child” are not fully incorporated into domestic legislation, since they are not equivalent to the “interests” or “legitimate interests” of the child. The principle of the best interests of the child does not therefore seem to be properly understood and consistently applied.	(2) para. 20: while noting that the right to be heard is included in a number of the State party’s laws, ... concerned that there are gaps in the implementation of these laws and that the right of the child to express his or her opinion is often considered to be a mere formality.	(2) para. 8: takes note of the draft Law on Fundamentals of Protection of the Rights of the Child, which, according to the State party’s information, contains many provisions that are in compliance with the CRC. However, it regrets the delay in the finalization and adoption of the law. ... concerned that the proposed draft contains provisions that are in conflict with the principles established by the CRC, inter alia, because they do not fully recognize children as rights holders.	(1) para. 14: notes the State party’s assertion that, despite the economic crisis, budget allocations to areas concerning children’s rights have not been affected. However, ... concerned that the budget allocations to children’s rights remain inadequate and that they are not efficiently managed; para. 39: concerned that the budget allocations to maternal and child health-care programmes are continuously decreasing. 112	Mauritius 2015	(2) para. 27: While noting the establishment of the Equal Opportunities (Amendment) Act, ... concerned that discrimination persists, notably in the form of obstacles to accessing and enjoying various services and facilities, particularly for children from disadvantaged and marginalized families, including street children, children who are affected and/or infected by HIV/AIDS, children using drugs, children deprived of their family environment, children with disabilities and minor offenders.	(2) para. 29: While noting that various national laws, including the Ombudsperson for Children Act 2003, incorporate the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration in administrative and judicial proceedings, and in policies and programmes relating to children, ... concerned at the lack of information on how this right is enforced in practice in all areas affecting children.	(2) para. 31: While welcoming initiatives that uphold the rights of expression of the child in respect of all matters affecting him or her through awareness-raising, such as the 16 Days – 16 Rights Campaign, ... concerned that the views of the child are not systematically taken into account, for example in court and administrative proceedings, with the exception of separation, divorce, adoption and custody proceedings, where the views of children above the age of 5 are generally taken into account.	(2) para. 9: while welcoming the adoption of a number of laws to strengthen the legislative framework for children’s rights, remains concerned that the legislation does not cover the full scope of the CRC, and that a comprehensive children’s act has still not been adopted.	(2) para. 15: While noting that resources have increasingly been allocated to address disparities between urban and rural areas and among the different islands, ... remains concerned at the inadequate allocation of resources for education, health and child protection issues, in particular measures to combat child abuse, and at the absence of a child-rights perspective in preparing budgets and monitoring the spending of resources for children; para. 51: notes with appreciation the budget allocations and increase of human resources to the health sector.	(1) para. 17: concerned that the availability of and access to up-to-date and disaggregated statistics, reports and studies on children are very limited and that statistics on certain categories of children, including children with disabilities and children in street situations, are not readily available; para. 43b: lack of disaggregated data on children in need, on those provided with services and those in different forms of alternative care; para. 49: welcomes the development of a database on disability; para. 65: concerned at the absence of sex-disaggregated data with regard to trafficking.	(2) para. 23: While noting with appreciation the important role played by NGOs in delivering various services for children, ... concerned that the State party appears to over-rely on these organizations, which it often appoints as contractors without monitoring and evaluating the adequacy of the services delivered, and without providing NGOs with adequate resources for children. ... also concerned that civil society organizations have not been adequately involved in the implementation of the “Working Together” framework.

120	Myanmar 2012	"(1) para. 8: non-implementation previous CO on non-discrimination; para. 35: reiterates its concern about the multiple forms of discrimination that persist in the State party, particularly those against girls and children in vulnerable and disadvantaged situations, such as children from ethnic and religious minority groups (including Rohingya children), children from remote and border areas, internally displaced children, children in street situations, children affected by HIV/AIDS, children with disabilities, orphans and children in situation of poverty."	(2) para. 37: noting that the principle of the best interests of the child is mentioned in art. 27 of the Child Law, concerned that the knowledge of this principle remains insufficient and no action has been taken by the State party to include it in any other legislation or budgets, or to ensure that it is sufficiently applied in the judicial and administrative decisions.	"(1) para. 39: reiterates its concern that traditional attitudes towards children in society continue to limit respect for their views and that the State party has not taken sufficient measures to ensure that the views of the child are given due consideration, especially in courts, schools, relevant administrative and other processes and within the family, other institutions and society at large."	(2) para. 9: noting the indication given by the State party that the 1993 Child Law is being reviewed to integrate some CRC provisions, the Committee is concerned that all principles and provisions of the CRC have not yet been fully incorporated into domestic law and that legal provisions contrary to the CRC remain in force; also expresses its concern about the application of different sources of law, namely codified and customary laws, which may undermine the State party's efforts to harmonize its legislation with the CRC.	"(1) para. 17: reiterates its deep concern about the extremely low level of resources allocated to the social sectors, in particular education, health and nutrition, at the severe lack of financial resources for the protection and promotion of children's rights, and conversely at the disproportionately high allocation of public financial resources to the military and State-owned enterprises. Furthermore, the Committee is concerned about the absence of transparency in the budgetary process."	"(2) para. 23: noting some initiatives by the State party to improve interdepartmental information systems and progress made in collecting national level data on the socioeconomic situation and health and education status of the child population, concerned at the lack of methodological coherence in the undertaking of data collection and the absence of disaggregated data on areas covered by the CRC."	"(2) para. 29: noting the recent progress made in cooperation with the civil society, concerned that civil society participation, and in particular children's participation, remains limited in the formulation of policies and programmes; also concerned that insufficient efforts have been made to involve civil society in CRC implementation and that a high level of distrust between civil society and the Government remains; expresses its concern about reports that individuals and organizations are punished for carrying out human rights education and engaging with the international human rights mechanisms."

However, notwithstanding the de jure prohibition of discrimination, ... remains concerned that discrimination based on, inter alia, gender, lineage, ethnicity, religion, social standing and disability remains prevalent. In particular, ... concerned that: (a) Gender discrimination is still highly prevalent in all aspects, such as in the health sector and in education; (b) There is persistent de facto discrimination against Dalits, on the basis of their caste, resulting in them living in marginalized communities with hindrances to accessing education and public places, including water sources and places of worship."	"(1) para. 22: concerned that neither the Constitution nor any other legislation refers to the "best interests of the child"."	(1) para. 24: reiterates its previous CO (2005): concerned that the views of the child are not given sufficient consideration in all areas of children's lives and that the provisions of art. 12 are not fully integrated into the State party's legislation and administrative and judicial decisions, or in policies and programmes relevant to children.	"(2) para. 4: notes with appreciation the adoption of specified legislative measures; para. 7: welcomes the adoption of the 2015 Constitution, which recognizes children's rights. However, ... concerned that the draft Children's Bill does not provide a comprehensive, integrated and rights-based approach to the State party's legislation and does not adequately define key terms or mandates."	(2) Reiterates its previous CO (2005); para.12: welcomes the increase in the resources allocated for ... children's rights during recent years, as well as the adoption of the child-friendly local governance national framework in 2009, and its accompanying ... guidelines in 2010. Nevertheless, remains concerned that: (a) The resources dedicated to children continue to be insufficient; (b) The mobilization of resources by the State in order to address the needs of children is limited and significantly hampered by corruption; (c) The efficacy and transparency in the use of the resources made available through int. cooperation in response to the earthquake in 2015 are insufficient.	(1) para. 14: reiterates its previous CO (2005): insufficient follow-up previous CO on data collection; concerned at the absence of comprehensive and up-to-date statistical data in the State party and the lack of an adequate national data collection system on all areas covered by the CRC. (1) para. 16: also recommends that the State party strengthen its efforts to ensure that BIs are appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions, in particular with regard to family law, social security legislation, children in care (particularly Maori children), sentencing of parents and in the refugee determination process. The State party is encouraged ... to provide guidance to all relevant professionals for determining the BIs of the child in every area and for giving it due weight as a primary consideration.	(1) para. 18: recalls its previous COs (2011): noting with regret that the views of children are not adequately respected within the family, in schools and in the community; also regrets that there are no means by which children can express their views in the public domain, that the State party does not systematically take into consideration children's views when formulating laws and policies that may affect them and that their right to be heard in judicial and administrative proceedings is not sufficiently respected.	(1) para. 6: recalls its previous CO (2011) and urges the State party to bring domestic legislation relating to children into compliance with the CRC.	(1) para. 9: recalling its previous CO: concerned that the increases in expenditure are not sufficient to eradicate poverty and address inequalities; regrets that the budgeting process still does not allow clear identification of allocations for children, which prevents the tracking of expenditure on children by the State party and the evaluation of its impact.	"(1) para. 10: recommends development of a comprehensive mechanism for data collection and an information system on all areas of the CRC. 126	Nicaragua 2010	(2) para. 36: welcomes the legislative action taken by the State party to guarantee equal rights of people, especially those with disabilities, living with HIV/AIDS and indigenous and Afro-descendants; also welcomes the establishment of the Office of the Special Ombudsperson for the Rights of Indigenous People and Ethnic Communities, and its local office in the Caribbean Coast autonomous region, as well as the Office of the Special Ombudsperson for Sexual Diversity; shares the concerns that indigenous peoples and peoples of African descent, as well as women, girls and children in rural and remote areas continue to suffer de facto discrimination.	(2) para. 38: notes that, according to art. 9 of the Children and Adolescents Code, the best interests of the child should be taken into account as a fundamental principle; concerned that the principle of the best interests of the child is not well understood in the family or by State judicial and administrative authorities, and that it is not consistently applied in practice.	(2) para. 41: commends the achievements made with regard to children and adolescents' right to be heard through school and municipal councils, for example, but notes that the efforts are not deep enough and that the new forms of "direct democracy" (such as the Gabinetes de Participación Popular) seem to be adult-centred and authoritarian; also concerned that children's views are not always duly taken into account in the family and in judicial and administrative proceedings.	(3) para. 7: insufficient implementation previous CO on legislation; para. 8: notes the efforts made by the State party towards strengthening the constitutional, legal and normative framework related to CRC implementation.	(2) para. 18: welcoming the increase in spending on health and education over the past years, especially from national resources, concerned at the insufficient level of resources available overall for social policies and specific plans and programmes for children; further concerned that due to the financial crisis and the low public revenue base, financial resources, including contributions for budget support and specific programmes from international cooperation, may decrease further.	(2) para. 7: insufficient implementation previous CO on data collection; para. 21: welcomes the five-year plan for the modernization of the National Development Information Institute and the National Statistical System; particularly commends the process to design and implement the statistical information system on children and adolescents and establish a system of child rights indicators in close cooperation with all concerned institutions; concerned that data on children at risk is still not available and that sufficient financial and human resources are not allocated for the full functioning of the system.	(1) para. 28: concerned that the long-standing tradition of collaboration between the State party and an extensive network of national and international non-governmental organisations (NGOs) has recently become more limited due, inter alia, to the weakening of CONAPINA.

128	Nigeria 2010	(2) para. 28: notes as positive that the Constitution incorporates provisions of non-discrimination and welcomes the fact that the Anti-Discrimination Bill is about to be passed by the National Assembly; remains concerned however that de facto discrimination of children prevails and is tolerated in the State party, in particular vis-à-vis the girl child, but also against children with disabilities, children in street situations and children of minority groups.	(2) para. 30: welcomes the express provision in the Child Rights Act that the child's best interests shall remain "paramount" in all considerations affecting the child and appreciates information that courts of the State party frequently base their decisions on this principle; concerned ... that certain practices that are inconsistent with this and other general CRC principles appear to be considered as reflecting the best interests of the child; This includes information on the placement of children from vulnerable groups in remand homes and the detention of child offenders charged with status offences, and of children at the request of their parents for being "beyond parental control", for their own protection.	(2) para. 34: welcomes the establishment of Children's Parliaments in all 36 states of the Federation, in line with the Committee's recommendation and their active participation in international as well as national forums; remains concerned about the limited participation of children in matters affecting them in children's institutions of all kind, in the family and in judicial and administrative procedures. It regrets the low level of acceptance thereof, especially in rural areas, and appreciates the State party's acknowledgement of this situation.	(2) para. 3: welcomes adoption of (specified) legislation; para. 7: welcomes the ongoing constitutional review in the State party and, in this context, the proposal to place the Child Rights Act (CRA) in the concurrent list of legislation which would make it automatically applicable in all states of the federation; remains concerned, however, that most northern states of the State party have not yet domesticated the CRA and about reports that some states that have passed such legislation have adopted a definition of the child which is not in compliance with that of the CRC; regrets that a comprehensive review on the compatibility of the existing statutory, religious (sharia) and customary laws with the CRC and the Child Rights Act has not been carried out.	(2) para. 16: welcomes information that budget allocations to health and education have increased and that funds saved from the debt relief programme will be invested in child-ren's programmes; welcomes information from the State that a specific budget line on maternal health and the new born child has been included in the 2010 Government budget; notes with appreciation the implementation of a comprehensive economic and anti-corruption reform programme; nevertheless reiterates its earlier concern about insufficient budget allocations to children and that corruption remains endemic in the State party and its adverse effects on the protection and promotion of children's rights.	(2) para. 6: inadequate follow-up to previous CO on data-collection systems; para. 18: notes with appreciation the establishment of the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) and its fully fledged department dealing with statistics on children during the reporting period; welcomes the appointment of the CRC Chair at the University of Lagos and the undertaking of a National Baseline Survey on child protection, including indicators, by the same; notes that data on children deprived of a family environment, refugee and internally displaced children, children in conflict with the law, children with disabilities, as well as single-parent families still has to be collected and analysed.	(2) para. 23: welcomes the State party's indication that state institutions work in close collaboration with civil society organizations in furthering the implementation of children's rights, as witnessed in the participatory process during the preparation of the State party's report; concerned about the reliance of the State party on civil society organizations in the provision of social services of the CRC, notably in the fields of child care and education, which may affect the responsibility of State party as the primary duty-bearer for the realization of the rights guaranteed under the CRC.

145	Republic of Moldova 2017	"(2) para. 15: noting the efforts of the State party in preventing and combating discrimination ..., recommends that the State party: (a) Intensify efforts to ensure the effective elimination of any form of discrimination against CWDs, children belonging to ethnic minorities, in particular Roma children, LGBTI children, and other groups of children in vulnerable situations, including children living in poverty, children remaining behind while their parents migrate abroad, and children in street situations. Such measures should include, among other things, the modification of relevant laws, continued training on police sensitivity and responsiveness to minorities, and awareness-raising campaigns and education, especially at the community level and in schools; "	(2) para. 16: recommends that the State party strengthen its efforts to ensure that this right is appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions, as well as in all policies, programmes and projects that are relevant to and have an impact on children, including alternative care, adoption and juvenile justice. In this regard, the State party is encouraged to develop procedures and criteria to provide guidance to all relevant persons in authority for determining the BIs of the child in every area and for giving it due weight as a primary consideration.	(2) para. 17: While welcoming various initiatives aimed at increasing child participation (...) recommends that the State party: (a) Take measures to ensure the adoption and effective implementation of legislation recognizing the right of the child to be heard in relevant (...) proceedings; (b) Develop toolkits for public consultation on national policy (...); (c) Continue to ... promote the meaningful and empowered participation of all children within the family, community and schools (...); (d) Expand the technical assistance project implemented in the child protection systems in 11 districts (...).	(2) para. 6: reiterates its recommendation to the State party to further develop a comprehensive legislative framework, fully compatible with the principles and provisions of the CRC, and ensure the effective implementation of child-related laws at the national, regional and local levels.	(2) para. 9: Noting the impact of the financial-economic situation in the State party, ... strongly recommends that the State party: (a) Further increase budget allocations for the implementation of the rights recognized in the CRC, ensure a more balanced and equitable distribution of resources throughout the State party, including at the local level for social services; (b) Utilize a child rights-oriented budgeting process, which specifies clear allocations to children in the relevant sectors and agencies ...; (c) Define strategic budgetary lines for all children, including those who may require social measures, and ensure their protection in times of financial crisis, especially with respect to health and education;	(2) para. 10: While noting the efforts of the State party to collect data on children, including the Multiple Indicator Cluster, and Child Labour Surveys, ... recommends that the State party: (a) Expediently improve its data collection system, including establishing a centralized system covering all areas of the Convention .... The data should cover all areas of the CRC and be disaggregated by age, sex, disability, geographic location, ethnic and national origin, migration status and socioeconomic background; (b) Ensure that the data and indicators are shared among the ministries concerned and used.	"(1) para. 13: recommends that the State party systematically involve civil society, including non-governmental organizations and children's organizations, in the development, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of policies, plans and programmes related to children's rights. "

146	Romania 2017	"(2) para. 16: noting the information provided by the State party on two orders aimed at preventing school segregation and law No. 331/2015 amending the asylum legislation, ... remains deeply concerned that: (a) Roma children; CWDs; asylum-seeking and refugee children; LGBTI children; and children living in remote rural areas continue to face discrimination with regard to access to education, health care, employment and a decent standard of living; (b) Girls continue to be subject to multiple gender-based discrimination, particularly when they are in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, and are more exposed to violence and exclusion."	(1) para. 18: reiterates its previous CO (see CRC/C/ROM/CO/4, para. 29) and recommends that the State party ensure that new legislation is assessed against children's BIs and that it review the training of professionals working with and for children to ensure that the principle of the BI of the child is clearly understood and properly implemented.	"(1) para. 20: recommends that the State party: (a) Ensure that children's views are given due consideration, ... in the family, at schools, in the courts and in all relevant administrative and other processes through, inter alia, the adoption of appropriate legislation, training of professionals, establishment of specific activities at school and general awareness-raising; (b) Provide additional support to the National Students Council to increase its capacity to facilitate children's participation at the local, county and national levels; (c) Ensure that legislation allows and supports adolescents in organizing themselves in associations and formal groups."	(1) para. 6: recommends that the State party take all necessary measures for proper implementation of its legislation and ensure that sufficient human, technical and financial resources are provided for the implementation of legislation.	(1) para. 9: concerned that the State party's budgeting process fails to provide specifically for transparent budgetary allocations for children in the relevant sectors and agencies, including for indicators and tracking systems at all levels, as well as targeted budgetary allocations for children in marginalized and vulnerable situations, such as Roma children, CWDs and children in rural areas. ... also concerned that despite recent economic growth, the State party fails to provide adequate allocations for health, education and social protection.	(2) para. 11: reiterates its previous recommendation (see CRC/C/ROM/CO/4, para. 18) and further recommends that the State party expeditiously improve its data-collection system, ensuring that it covers all areas of the CRC and that the data are disaggregated by age, sex, disability, geographic location, ethnic origin, socioeconomic background and migratory status, in order to facilitate analysis of the situation of all children, particularly those in situations of vulnerability, including Roma children, as well as impact assessments of the measures taken, and ensure access to the existing data.	(1) para. 14: calls on the State party to effectively involve civil society, including non-governmental organizations and children's organizations, in the development, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of legislation, policies, plans and programmes related to children's rights and to develop a transparent system of contracting civil society organizations for the delivery of social services to complement the Government's efforts.

147	Russian Federation 2014	(1) para. 10: concerned that the National Children's Strategy 2012–2017 does not cover ... discrimination against children in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, including children from minority groups; para. 22: concerned that no anti-discrimination legislation has been adopted ... also concerned that discrimination continues to be prevalent against children in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, such as children: belonging to minority groups, Roma, of migrant workers and of stateless persons, girls in the North Caucasus and children who are not ... permanent residents. ... particularly concerned about the increasing number of children joining nationalist movements which are involved in hate crimes against minority groups; para. 24: LGBTI children.	(2) para. 26: notes the State party's information that the obligation to take into consideration the interests of the child in all initiatives involving children has been set out in its legislation ... concerned that the State party's legislation refers to the "legitimate interests of the child", which is not equivalent in scope to "the best interests of the child", the State entities for child protection (tutorship and guardianship bodies) assess only the general physical safety of children and do not assess their emotional and psychological needs, the ongoing "anti-juvenile" campaign reportedly prioritizes the interests of parents over the interests of their children.	(1) para. 7: urges the State party to take all necessary measures to address those recommendations contained in the previous CO that have not been implemented or sufficiently implemented and, in particular, it urges the State party to make further efforts to ensure the implementation of the principle of respect for the views of the child. In this connection, particular emphasis should be placed on the right of every child, including children who are members of vulnerable and minority groups, to participate in the family, at school, in other institutions and bodies and in society at large. That right should also be incorporated in all laws, judicial and administrative decisions, policies and programmes relating to children.	(2) para. 8: welcomes the numerous positive legislative developments ... in the areas of preventing violence against children, child trafficking and birth registration ... concerned about legislative acts ... that have a negative impact on the rights of children, in particular in the areas of deinstitutionalization, adoption and non-discrimination, among others; para. 26: notes the State party's information that the obligation to take into consideration the interests of the child in all initiatives involving children has been set out in its legislation; para. 49: notes the new law laying the foundations of social services, which allows for social services to be provided to families with children with disabilities free of charge and mostly in the place of their residence (at home)	(2) para. 14: notes the information provided by the State party that the budget is divided up by sector (department) ... concerned that there are no targeted budget allocations for children, especially children in disadvantaged situations, such as children of migrant workers, including irregular migrant workers, and children who do not possess permanent residence registration (propiska)	(1) para. 7: urges the State party to take all necessary measures to address those recommendations contained in the previous CO that have not been implemented or sufficiently implemented and, in particular, it urges the State party to strengthen its efforts to establish a comprehensive and permanent mechanism within the national statistical system to collect data, disaggregated by sex, age, rural and urban area, nationality and ethnic origin, incorporating all the areas covered by the CRC and covering all children below the age of 18 years, with emphasis on those who are particularly vulnerable.	(1) para. 18: expresses its deep concern at the 2012 Federal Act regarding the regulation of activities of non-commercial organizations performing the function of foreign agents, which requires that organizations receiving financial support from sources outside the State party register and identify themselves publicly as "foreign agents" ... expresses its deep concern at recent amendments to the Criminal Code that expanded the definition of the crime of State treason to include "providing financial, technical, advisory or other assistance to a foreign State or international organization ... directed at harming Russia's security" and which are used against organizations working on children's rights

152	Saudi Arabia 2016	(1) para. 15: expresses deep concern that, in spite of the repeated recommendations made by international human rights mechanisms, the State party still does not recognize girls as full subjects of rights and continues to severely discriminate against them in law and in practice and to impose on them a system of male guardianship that conditions their enjoyment of most of the CRC's rights ... upon the agreement of a male guardian. ... remains concerned that children of Saudi mothers and non-Saudi fathers, LGBTI children, CWDs, children born out of wedlock, children of migrant workers and children belonging to Shia and other religious minorities remain subjected to persistent discrimination.	(1) para. 19: that the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration is not always respected, as in matters relating to family law or the imposition of norms and religious traditions.	(1) para. 22: In view of the persistence of traditional attitudes towards children in society, in particular towards girls, which limit their right to express their views and to have those views taken into account, ... draws the State party's attention to its general comment No. 12 (2009) on the right of the child to be heard.	(2) para. 4: notes the various legislative, institutional and policy measures adopted to implement the CRC, especially the adoption of the Child Protection Act and the Protection from Abuse Act, as well as their implementing regulations, in 2014; para. 7: Noting that the comprehensive review of the legislation relating to children announced during the last review, held in 2006, has yet to be concluded, that judges rule on the basis of their personal interpretation of religion and that the State party's legislation lacks a child-rights perspective and reflects a vision of the child as an object of protection rather than a subject of rights.	(1) para. 9: Reiterating its concern about the lack of a system to identify and track budget allocation and spending for children;	"(1) para. 10: Given the very limited data provided by the State party in its periodic report and in its replies to the Committee's list of issues, and given the insufficient progress made to establish a data-collection system, ... reiterates its recommendation that the State party strengthen its system for collecting disaggregated data that can be used to assess progress achieved in the realization of children's rights and to help design policies to implement the CRC." 153	Senegal 2016	(2) para. 23: While noting the anti-discrimination provisions contained in the constitutional, legislative and policy framework of the State party, ... expresses its concern that discrimination against certain groups of children still exists in law and in practice. ... also notes with concern that almost no systematic measures have been taken, including with religious leaders, opinion makers and the mass media, to combat and change the discriminatory laws, attitudes and practices.	(2) para. 25: welcomes the inclusion of the BIs principle into the National Strategy on Child Protection and other action plans and associated tools, and notes that the right of the child to have his/her BIs taken as a primary consideration is explicitly set out in the draft Children's Code. ... concerned that this right remains insufficiently addressed, and inconsistently interpreted and applied, in family households, schools, courts and other institutions working with or for children. ... also concerned that there is a lack of concrete information on the way in which BIs are considered in governmental programmes and policies and in all legislative, administrative and judicial decision-making.	(2) para. 29: While noting with appreciation the efforts made by the State party to implement the principle of respect for the views of the child, such as the establishment of the Children's Parliament, and of "child governments" and "child parliaments" in schools, ... reiterates its concern that traditional societal attitudes appear to limit children's free expression of their views in the family, schools, communities, courts and other institutional settings. ... also concerned about the minimum age, set at 15, for a child to be heard in court.	(2) notes the progress made by the State party in bringing domestic law into compliance with the CRC. It also notes that the draft Children's Code, which encompasses all legislation related to children's rights, has been finalized and submitted for adoption. However, remains concerned by the inadequate enforcement of legislation, especially in remote and rural areas, and by the continuous impact of traditional and customary attitudes and practices which hamper the implementation of the CRC.	(2) para. 13: notes as positive the increased budget allocation for education and health, as well as the State party's plans to revise its public expenses to ensure a more equitable distribution of resources among the different regions. However, ... expresses its concern about the inadequate and significantly reduced financial resources allocated to the Ministry of Women, Family and Children under the 2015 budget law.	(2) para. 15: notes the efforts of the State party to improve the data collection system, including by developing a childhood database with established indicators and by adopting the National Strategy for the Development of Statistics 2014-2019. Nevertheless, ... remains concerned that the current data collection mechanism is insufficient to ensure the systematic and comprehensive collection of disaggregated data for all areas covered by the CRC in relation to all groups of children, particularly children in vulnerable situations, for monitoring and evaluating progress achieved and assessing the impact of policies adopted with respect to children. 156	Sierra Leone 2016	(1) para. 13: recommends that the State party: (a) Finalize the review of the Constitution and ensure that its provisions on non-discrimination are in full compliance with the CRC; (b) Intensify its efforts to eliminate discrimination against groups of children in the most vulnerable situations, such as girls, CWDs, children living with HIV/AIDS, children orphaned as a result of Ebola and children in rural areas.	(1) para. 14: recommends that the State party strengthen its efforts to ensure that the BIs principle is appropriately integrated and consistently interpreted and applied in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings and decisions, as well as in all policies, programmes and projects that are relevant to and have an impact on children. In this regard, the State party is encouraged to develop procedures and criteria to provide guidance to all relevant persons in authority on determining the BIs of the child in every area and on giving them due weight as a primary consideration. The State party is encouraged to put in place strategies for monitoring the decisions taken.	(1) para. 15: encourages the State party to ensure that children's views are given due consideration, in accordance with article 12 of the CRC, particularly at the community level, through established networks such as village development committees and other community-based structures, as well as in the family, at schools and in relevant judicial and administrative procedures concerning children.	(2) para. 6: urges the State party to continue harmonizing all domestic legislation relating to children's rights with the CRC, including by reviewing the Child Rights Act and ensuring that the Act has precedence over all other laws. The State party should ensure that all the gaps that have been identified in other laws that concern children on issues such as trafficking, child marriage and child labour are adequately addressed.	(1) para. 8: recommends that the State party: (a) Allocate adequate budgetary resources ... and, in particular, increase the budget allocated to the Ministry of Social Welfare, Gender and Children's Affairs; (b) Strengthen efforts to ensure that all line ministries adopt a child-centred budgeting approach; (c) Taking note of SDG target 16.5 on ... reducing corruption and bribery in all their forms, take immediate measures to combat corruption and strengthen institutional capacities to effectively detect, investigate and prosecute corruption, incl. by putting in place the Public Expenditure Tracking Survey system ... to avoid diverting resources from CRC implementation.	(1) para. 9: recommends that the State party: (a) Allocate the necessary human and financial resources to the Ministry of Social Welfare, Gender and Children's Affairs for the maintenance and operationalization of the child protection information management system; (b) Collect data on all areas of the CRC, disaggregated by age, sex, disability, geographic location, ethnic origin and socioeconomic background in order to facilitate analysis of the situation of all children, particularly those in situations of vulnerability.	(1) para. 12: recommends that the State party strengthen the capacity of local non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and systematically involve civil society, including NGOs and children's associations, in the planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of policies, plans and programmes relating to children's rights at the local level.

158	Slovakia 2016	(1) para. 15: shares the concern of the European Commission against Racism and Intolerance that the implementation of the Anti-discrimination Act is inadequately monitored and that ... the monitoring body, does not function effectively and independently. ... seriously concerned that: (a) Despite numerous plans and strategies, Roma children, especially in segregated settlements, continue to face multiple forms of discrimination, mainly in education, health care and standard of living, including as they relate to housing, evictions and payment of benefits; (b) Incidents of different forms of hate speech against vulnerable groups, such as the Roma, Muslims, and LGBTI persons, including children, are increasing.	(2) para. 17: Despite recent legislative amendments to the 2005 Family Act, ... is concerned about the interpretation of article 3 of the CRC and its implementation in the State party and about reports that the concept of best interests of the child is being increasingly misused in activities and campaigns by certain groups and misinterpreted by the media, which may compromise the rights of the child as a rights holder.	(1) para. 19: reiterates its previous COs (2007): remains concerned that the general principle of the best interests of the child (CRC art. 3) is not explicitly included in all legislative and administrative measures and programmes relevant to children.	(3) para. 4: notes with appreciation the adoption of various legislative ... measures in response to the recommendations of the Committee.	(1) para. 8: regrets the State party's decision to cancel the priority task stipulated in the National Action Plan for Children of designing and implementing a method for tracking resources allocated from the State budget for the implementation of children's rights, with a particular emphasis on children in vulnerable situations, including Roma children, and its explanation, set out in the written replies to the list of issues, that specifying funds designated to implement the CRC is not realistic and that the voluntary provision of data on the budget through annual collection by addressing competent institutions is sufficient.	(1) para.10: reiterates its previous COs (2007): remains concerned at deficiencies in the collection and analysis of disaggregated data; concerned that the lack of such data will negatively impact the ability of the State to accurately assess the situation of marginalized populations ...; observes nevertheless that such data has been collected in certain situations, such as criminal proceedings; moreover, concerned that the State's policy ... hampers the adequate collection and analysis of reliable disaggregated data on vulnerable groups, inter alia, the Roma community.	"(1) para. 13: concerned that civil society: (a) Reports difficulties in cooperating with the State party's authorities on promoting innovative practices in the field of child protection and in providing social services for children and families; (b) Considers that State and municipal and regional subsidies for non-governmental organizations, especially those providing social services, are insufficient."

(2) para. 28: takes note of the information provided on the incorporation of the right of the child to have his or her BIs taken into account as a primary consideration in national legislation as well as in the envisaged Family Code ... concerned about information received on the inadequate application of the right in courts and Social Work Centres in cases involving children deprived of a family environment ... particularly concerned about the lack of understanding of the right of the child to have his or her BIs taken into account as a primary consideration in asylum-seeking, refugee and/or immigration detention situations. ... further concerned about the lack of procedures and criteria for the determination of the BIs.	(2) para. 32: appreciates the existence of the Child Parliaments aimed at encouraging children to express their own views through a democratic process. ... however, concerned that the child parliament project is run by civil society and therefore is not provided with adequate support, especially financial support, to enable the programme to be sustainable. ... further concerned that the right of the child to be heard in legal proceedings and in the Social Work Centres is not adequately implemented in practice. In this respect, ... particularly concerned about the overreliance of family departments on experts' opinions while insufficient weight is given to the views of the children concerned.	(2) para. 8: notes the adoption of various child-related legislative measures during the period under review. ... however, regrets the continued absence of a consolidated child law that would incorporate all the CRC provisions into the State party's national legislation.	(2) para. 14: appreciates the considerable allocation of resources for health, education and social services. ... however concerned that the 2012 Fiscal Balance Act has had an adverse impact on the enjoyment of child rights under the CRC. ... also concerned about the absence of a child right's perspective in the budgeting process, as well as mechanisms for the identification, tracking and protection of strategic budget lines to ensure children's rights.	(2) para. 16: While welcoming the creation of a Child Observatory to monitor the situation of children in Slovenia and establishing a separate database for children in 2004, ... concerned that the data are not sufficiently disaggregated for all areas covered by the CRC, particularly with regard to children belonging to minority groups including Roma children, children with disabilities, migrant children, refugee and asylum-seeking children.	(1) para. 22: concerned about the limited cooperation with civil society in all aspects of CRC implementation despite its previous recommendation. ... further concerned about the limited resources allocated to NGOs and also to children's organizations in the State party. 163	South Sudan (2022) first COs	(2) para. 22: welcomes the statutory equality and non-discrimination provisions for all children. However, it notes with serious concern: (a) The structural discrimination experienced by girls owing to restrictive social and cultural norms and practices based on patriarchal attitudes and resulting in education and health indicators for girls that are the lowest in the world; (b) The persistence of discrimination against children in marginalized and disadvantaged situations, including CWDs, children living in nomadic and pastoralist communities, children deprived of a family environment, former child recruits and internally displaced children.	(2) para. 24: While taking note of the provisions in the Transitional Constitution and the Child Act setting out the principle of the best interests of the child, the Committee is concerned that professionals engaged in determining this principle in legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings, as well as those administering customary law, lack the capacity to implement the principle in practice.	(1) para. 28: concerned that little progress has been made to implement the provisions of the Child Act on the right of the child to be heard, to meaningfully participate and express views on matters affecting children and to participate in political or development processes. ... notes with particular concern the deep-rooted cultural barriers that prevent children's voices from being heard in families, communities, within broader society, in courts and during administrative proceedings.	(2) para. 6: notes that the State party referred extensively in its initial report to its Constitutional and statutory framework, including the Child Rights Act and the Bill of Rights set out in the Transitional Constitution, in which the principles and standards set out in the CRC are incorporated into national law, especially with regard to the definition of the child, the principles of non-discrimination and the BIs, and the need to outlaw harmful practices and prohibit the recruitment and use of children by the armed forces and armed groups. However, ... concerned about: (a) The low level of awareness of the child rights framework among the public, children, parents, teachers and professionals working with and for children; (b) The continued application of customary laws and traditions that contradict ... the child rights framework.	(1) para. 12: seriously concerned about: (a) The disproportionate and extremely low percentage of the national budget that is allocated to sectors and institutions relevant to children, particularly when compared with the budget allocated to national security and defence; (b) Reports of corruption that is diverting oil revenues from spending on public programmes that affect children and depriving them of access to health services, education, proper nutrition and adequate sanitation; (c) The State party's almost exclusive dependence on international donors and non-governmental organizations to maintain basic services for children such as health, education and social protection in the country.	(1) para. 14: acknowledges that the current context of political instability and insecurity presents a challenge to the systematic collection of comprehensive and updated data on the enjoyment of children's rights in the State party. 167	St. Lucia 2014	NA	(1) para. 24: concerned about the lack of information on the State party's efforts to ensure the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken into account as a primary consideration in all actions concerning children, and to apply that right in all legislation, administrative and judicial proceedings, policies and programmes relating to children.	(2) para. 26: notes the State party's efforts to ensure respect for the views of the child through its National Youth Policy, the Youth Parliament, the National Youth Council and National Student Councils, as well as in judicial proceedings with respect to juvenile justice, custody, evidence and protection of witnesses ... concerned that respect for the views of the child is not adequately implemented in practice in all relevant areas and at the national and local levels.	(2) para. 8: notes that some of the recommendations of the Committee in its previous COs are being addressed within the framework of the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States (OECS) and that the majority of draft bills have been submitted to the Government for consideration but have not yet been adopted ... concerned at the slow rate of adoption and implementation of various child-related legislative measures relating to, inter alia, non-discrimination concerning children born out of wedlock, recognition of the role of both parents in the upbringing and development of children, abuse and neglect, family contact for children deprived of a family environment, adoption and juvenile justice.	(2) para. 14: in the light of the current financial crisis and government spending cuts, ... notes the ... efforts to allocate resources with a view to protecting the most vulnerable members of society, incl. children ... notes the Government's commitment to poverty reduction, notably through the 2009 Poverty Reduction Strategy Action Plan ... concerned about the negative effects of austerity measures on public spending, in particular on benefits and services provided to families with children ...	(2) para. 14: concerned about the lack of data on the proportion of budgetary allocations for the implementation of children's rights under the CRC and information on the impact of austerity measures on children in the State party; para. 16: welcoming the Multiple Indicator Cluster Survey and the National Population and Housing Census, as well as the introduction of the Child Health Passport; noting that some data is collected by individual government ministries and departments and NGOs ... concerned that there is still no comprehensive mechanism for generating, collecting, analysing and coordinating data ... also concerned that data are not sufficiently disaggregated for all areas covered by the CRC.	"(2) notes the establishment of the National Action Child Protection Committee (NACPC) in 2012, designated to be the coordinating body for government bodies and civil society in implementing the CRC, ... concerned that the NACPC lacks a clear mandate and the necessary authority and resources to effectively carry out its role."

168	St. Vincent and the Grenadines 2017	(2) para. 20: notes that the Status of Children Act (2011) eliminated provisions discriminating against children born out of wedlock in matters of inheritance. However, ... concerned that the legislation of the State party does not fully reflect the provisions of article 2 of the CRC. ... also concerned about reports of discrimination against the following groups of children: (a) CWDs, including children with intellectual and psychosocial disabilities; (b) Children living with or affected by HIV/AIDS.	(2) para. 24: welcomes the explicit recognition in the Children (Care and Adoption) Act (2010) of the right of the child to have his or her BIs taken as a primary consideration and the commitment made by the delegation during the dialogue to harmonize all relevant national legislation with the CRC during 2017. However, ... remains concerned that the term used in other pieces of legislation is "welfare of the child", which does not fully correspond with the BIs of the child, and that children's right to having their BIs taken as a primary consideration is not fully implemented in decisions affecting them, including in the areas of education and health.	(2) para. 28: notes with appreciation that the Children (Care and Adoption) Act (2010) explicitly includes the right of children to express their views. ... also notes that, during the dialogue, the delegation said that the National Youth Parliament programme would be implemented. However, ... concerned that: (a) There are no procedures or protocols in place to ensure respect for the views of the child in administrative and judicial proceedings; (b) There is no structure or programme to ensure that children are involved in regular and systematic consultations in public decision-making.	(2) para. 5: notes that some progress has been made to harmonize the State party's legislation with the CRC, including through the proclamation of the Children (Care and Adoption) Act (2010) in 2015. However, ... concerned that the process has been slow and that several key pieces of legislation relevant to children, including the Status of Children Act (2011), are not yet fully in line with the CRC.	(2) para. 11: notes that in 2015 the State party adopted a performance budgeting structure that made it possible to disaggregate budgetary allocations for child development and protection. Nevertheless, ... concerned that: (a) The budget lines relating to the areas of child development and protection are insufficiently disaggregated; (b) Measures to ensure the allocation of funds for the development and protection of children in vulnerable situations, even in situations of crisis, are lacking.	(1) para. 13: reiterates its previous concluding observations (see CRC/C/15/Add.184, para. 14) and urges the State party to: (a) Establish an effective mechanism for the systematic collection of disaggregated quantitative and qualitative data incorporating all the areas covered by the CRC and covering all children below the age of 18 years; (b) Make use of indicators and data in the formulation of policies and programmes for the effective implementation of the CRC; (c) Seek technical assistance from UNICEF, among others. 169	Sudan 2010	(1) para. 8: insufficient follow-up previous COs on non-discrimination; para. 29: concerned at the pronounced inequality in economic conditions between the northern and southern regions of the State party and at the discrimination experienced by Southern and non-Muslim Sudanese in all areas, including the social and political spheres, as well as ethnic discrimination; particularly concerned at the impact of this situation on the realization of the rights set out in the CRC by children belonging to these groups.	NA	(1) para. 33: in light of the predominance of traditional views on the rights of children, concerned that children's opinions are not given sufficient consideration and that respect for the views of the child within the family, at school, in the courts, before administrative authorities and in wider society remains limited.	(2) para. 9: welcomes the promulgation of the Child Act (2010); concerned, however, that the State party has yet to establish a regulatory and policy framework to effect its implementation; notes with particular concern the absence of a comprehensive body of subsidiary legislation.	(1) para. 8: insufficient follow-up previous COs on resource allocation; para. 17: concerned that financial resources allocated to the protection and promotion of children's rights are far from adequate and notes with concern the State party's information that no specific budget allocations have been made for the implementation of child rights; expresses its concern over the marginalization of social sector spending, as indicated by the considerable military expenditure in contrast to allocations for health and education.	(2) para. 19: noting the State party's information that it is in the process of establishing a national centre for child information within the National Council for Child Welfare, expresses concern at the absence of a centralized data collection system in the State party; notes that this is reflected in the lack of up-to-date, disaggregated data on many of the areas covered by the CRC, including children with disabilities, children in street situations, children infected with HIV/AIDS, child mortality and trafficking in children.	(1) para. 25: seriously concerned over the limitations placed on certain civil society organizations and regrets, in particular, the severe restrictions imposed on the operations of international and national NGOs, especially those working in the area of human rights and humanitarian assistance for children; also concerned that civil society organizations were not involved in the follow-up to the Committee's previous concluding observations or afforded adequate opportunities to present their views during the preparation of the State party's third and fourth periodic report.

(2) para. 33: notes as positive the inclusion of the principle of the best interests of the child in the Children's Code and its progressive consideration and adoption as a leading principle in actions and decisions concerning children; notes that the definition of the best interests of the child contained in article 4 of the Children's Code is extremely vague; concerned that the Children's Code does not establish an obligation to incorporate the principle of the best interests of the child in all laws and to apply it in all legislative, administrative and judicial proceedings, as well as in policies and programmes relating to children.	(2) para. 37: notes as positive that the principle of respect for the views of the child is now legally recognized and that a National Child Consultative Council was recently set up to ensure better inclusion of children in the anti-violence strategies that concern them; reiterates its concern that opportunities for the child to express his/her own views in the family, in schools and in the community are still scarce and notes that children are rarely permitted to express their views on matters of concern to them; also concerned that children are insufficiently heard in judicial and administrative procedures.	"(2) para. 9: welcoming the adoption of the Children's Code in 2007, the Committee regrets that this Code is only a compilation of existing legal texts concerning children; also concerned that (a) Children are not fully recognized as rights holders in the Children's Code and that the Code contains many provisions which are not in compliance with the CRC; (b) the Children's Code is not fully applicable, as the implementing regulations have not yet been adopted; (c) the Personal and Family Code, revised Criminal Code and revised Code of Criminal Procedure have still not been adopted."	"(1) para. 17: the Committee is seriously concerned about the further reduction in social expenditure in recent years, which has had and will continue to have a negative impact on the implementation of the rights of the child in the State party; also remains concerned that corruption continues to be pervasive and diverts resources available for the effective implementation of the CRC."	(1) para. 19: concerned that little progress has been made to set up a comprehensive system to collect disaggregated data on all areas covered by the CRC and that the lack of such reliable disaggregated data remains a major obstacle for the effective planning, monitoring and evaluation of policies, programmes and projects for children.	"(2) para. 25: noting the existing cooperation with civil society organizations, concerned about the stigmatization of human rights defenders in the State party, the reluctance of public authorities to give legitimacy to their work and the absence of measures to investigate and prosecute authors of threats and other acts of intimidation against them; also concerned that women human rights defenders are particularly vulnerable to ostracism within their own families and communities, and are frequently labelled as, inter alia, "bad mothers" and "family breakers"."

181	Turkey 2012 (as of June 2022 Türkiye)	(1) para. 28: reiterates its concern that the principle of non-discrimination is not fully implemented for children belonging to minorities not recognized under the Treaty of Lausanne of 1923, in particular children of Kurdish origin; children with disabilities; girls; refugee and asylum-seeking children; and children living in the Eastern and Southeastern regions and in rural areas – especially with regard to their access to adequate health and education.	(2) para. 30: welcomes the inclusion of the principle of the BIs in the Law on Child Protection of 2005 and in the Constitutional amendments of 2010, as well as the provision that court decisions which do not take into account the BIs may be annulled by the Supreme Court; regrets the lack of information on the application of this principle in cases of domestic violence and family disintegration, in respect of which the State party seems to take punitive measures, rather than provide support to the family concerned.	(2) para. 34: notes with appreciation the State party's efforts to provide for the views of the child to be taken into account by establishing provincial Children's Rights Committees, organizing children's fora and "child-friendly cities." However, remains concerned as to whether the views communicated by children in these fora are genuinely taken into account; regrets that the overall implementation of this right is insufficient in the family, institutions, legal and administrative proceedings and the community.	(3) para. 10: notes significant improvement in legislation related to the rights of the child.	(2) para. 18: noting the information provided by the State party that the Ministry of Finance is planning to adopt a functional budgeting system over the coming two years, so that all expenditure on children will be more visible; concerned about the information that the State party's public social expenditure remains relatively low.	(2) para. 20: welcomes recent improvements in the State party's data collection system as well as the data provided by the State party in its report and written replies in some areas covered by the CRC; remains concerned about the lack of regular data in areas such as child poverty and well-being, child labour, CWDs, injury and risk behaviour; also regrets the lack of data disaggregated by gender, geographic location, ethnicity and socio-economic background, which would help to monitor the equal enjoyment of their rights by all children in the State party.	(1) para. 12: concerned about the lack of information on coordination between Government agencies, the private sector and civil society.

(2) para. 32: notes with interest the existence of children's clubs and student councils to promote the participation of children. However ... concerned about the scarcity of information on these councils in rural and remote areas and the involvement of and outreach to children in vulnerable situations. ... also concerned that the views of the child are rarely taken into account in decisions made by families and in administrative and judicial proceedings.	(2) para. 7: notes the status of the constitutional reform process and the information according to which further legislative changes to improve the promotion and protection of human rights in the State party will be introduced once the Constitution is approved. Nevertheless ... reiterates its concern that certain laws do not fully comply with the principles and provisions of the CRC and hinder the full realization of children's rights in the State party, notably the Law of Marriage Act, 1971 (Rev. 2002), chapter 16 of the Penal Code and the laws on inheritance.	(2) para. 13: notes the State party's commitment to annually increase its budget allocation for children. However ... expresses its concern that there is no specific budget allocation for children or for the implementation of the CRC ... in the State party. ... also concerned that the economic growth resulting from, for instance, the extractive industries, has not led to increased investment in children and that the State party continues to over-rely on donor funding.	(2) para. 15: welcomes the efforts made by the State party towards introducing a central management information system in the context of the Tanzania Statistical Master Plan. Nevertheless ... reiterates its concern over the absence of a centralized data collection system (CRC/C/TZA/CO/2, para. 18), as well as over the deficiencies in compiling, analysing and processing data relating to the rights of the child. 190	Uruguay 2015	(2) para. 23: While noting that the State party has a national plan against racism and discrimination ..., concerned that discriminatory attitudes and social exclusion still affect some sections of the child population, and in particular CWDs, girls, children living in rural and remote areas, children from economically disadvantaged families and adolescents. ... also concerned that adolescents are often portrayed as criminals in the media, and ... are therefore subjected to discrimination in law and in practice. para. 43: regrets that discrimination against CWDs remains widespread in the State party; para. 57: discrimination in the education system.	(2) para. 25: While noting that article 6 of the Code on Childhood and Adolescence incorporates the principle of the best interests of the child ..., concerned that the right of the child to have his or her best interests taken as a primary consideration is not always respected, particularly in judicial and administrative decisions and when children are separated from their parents ... also notes with concern the impossibility of appealing or revising decisions when this right has not been respected.	(2) para. 27: While welcoming the establishment of the Children's Advisory and Consultative Council as a consultative body to the Uruguayan Institute for Children and Adolescents ... concerned about its lack of interaction with the various institutions involved in the implementation of children's rights. ... also concerned that the participatory councils in the education field are not completely operational, ... further regrets the lack of information on how the right of the child to be heard has been implemented in relevant administrative and judicial proceedings.	(2) para. 4: welcomes adoption of specified legislation such as Personal Integrity of Children and Adolescents Act; para. 21: While noting as positive the statement of the delegation during the interactive dialogue on its commitment to raising the minimum age of marriage to 18 years, equally applicable to boys and girls ... remains concerned that the age of marriage is 16 years in national legislation; para. 31: concerned that the legislation does not provide a specific sanction for those inflicting corporal punishment.	(2) para. 13: While noting the information provided ... that budgetary allocations to programmes and services for children and families have increased and that 19% of total public expenditure is allocated for children ... remains concerned about: (a) Sectoral elaboration of the budget making it difficult to identify whether the resources allocated are adequate ...; (b) Lack of impact assessment of the budgetary measures adopted on children's rights; (c) Unequal distribution of resources among the different sectors and regions, leading to the persistence of inequality among children ...	(2) para. 6: inadequate follow-up to previous CO on data collection; para. 15: While noting that the State party has established an information system for childhood (SIPI), as part of the Uruguayan Institute for Children and Adolescents, as well as the Comprehensive Information System on the Social Area ... concerned that there are many inconsistencies and gaps in relation to data collection, particularly in the fields of health, juvenile justice, violence and abuse, disability, and concerning children without parental care and those of African descent.	(1) para. 11: remains concerned that in practice the Council has not ensured effective coordination between the various institutions and relevant actors, including civil society organizations involved in the implementation of children's rights.

195	Yemen 2014	(1) para. 29: concerned at the persistence of discriminatory social attitudes against categories of children in marginalized/ disadvantaged situations, including ... Muhamasheen children, children born out of wedlock and CWD, ... deeply concerned at discrimination against girls ... owing to the persistence of traditional attitudes and norms by which girls are perceived as inferior to boys; para. 39: concerned at a discriminatory provision against CWD contained in article 4(b) of the Nationality Act No. 6 (1990), according to which one of the prerequisites for children born in the State party to foreign parents to acquire Yemeni nationality, once they have attained majority, is not to have a disability.	(2) para. 31: notes the 2012 amendments proposed to the Child Rights Act in accordance with which the principle of the best interests of the child would be applied in all administrative and judicial proceedings, policies and programmes relating to children. However, it is concerned at the low level of awareness among professionals working with children that the best interests of the child are to be taken as the primary consideration in all areas affecting children, and at the persistence of norms and traditions that impede the application of the principle of the best interests of the child.	(2) para. 35: notes as positive that the Children's Parliament has held its elections regularly since its establishment in 2004 ... expresses concern at the lack of adequate financial and technical support for holding the Children's Parliament sessions ... also concerned that children are generally not perceived as rights holders in Yemeni society and that their participation in the public sphere and opportunities to have their voices heard in decision-making processes are lacking at the policymaking level and in the family, schools and the community.	(2) para. 9: welcomes the fact that recommendations made by working groups of the National Dialogue Conference include provisions guaranteeing children's rights, which are expected to be incorporated into the draft constitution. It also notes the comprehensive revision of 54 laws, bills and regulations related to children, which resulted in a package of draft amendments in line with the CRC ... concerned that divergent views on the rights of the child within the Parliament, in particular on setting the age of majority and the minimum age of marriage at 18 years, risk delaying the adoption of the draft amendments.	(2) para. 15: notes the information provided by the State party during the dialogue that a project was being developed to ensure budgetary allocations for children ... concerned at the lack of specific allocations for children in the social budget of the State party ... concerned at the reduction of financial allocations in the social sector, in particular health and education, compared to gross domestic product and public expenditure in the State party since the Committee last considered a report of the State party in 2005, and its negative impact on children.	(2) para. 17: notes that the State party has developed a juvenile justice information system ... reiterates its concern at the lack of an adequate data collection mechanism allowing for the systematic and comprehensive collection of disaggregated data on all areas covered by the CRC and in relation to all groups of children; para. 53: notes the efforts of the State party to ensure the rights of children with disabilities through services provided by the Disability Fund for Care and Rehabilitation and the Social Fund for Development ... remains concerned about the lack of accurate disaggregated statistical data on children with disabilities.	(2) para. 25: notes the efforts of the State party to strengthen its cooperation with civil society on issues related to children's rights ... regrets the scarcity of information received on the extent of the involvement of the civil society and children in the State party's reporting process.
